TROOP REINFORCEMENTS FOR REVOLT-STRICKEN PALESTINE

The situation in Palestine continues to be serious and the high Commissioner, Sir Arthur Wauchope, above, has requested that troop reinforcements be sent there from Egypt.

"QUEEN MARY" AT CHERBOURG

King's Message Of Good Wishes

AMERICA DEEPLY INTERESTED

Cherbourg, To-day.
The liner Queen Mary, on her maiden voyage across the Atlantic, has arrived. The King sent a message to the Captain, Sir Edgar Britten, with all good wishes for a successful maiden voyage. Sir Edgar replied that he was greatly honoured, and His Majesty's kind message of good wishes was highly appreciated.

Later: The Queen Mary sailed at 12.35 p.m. yesterday.

AMERICA INTERESTED
New York: America is very deeply interested in the Queen Mary. The sailing was featured in every newspaper and broadcast throughout the country. The broadcasting companies made unprecedented arrangements to give hour by hour accounts from every conceivable angle through microphones installed in 30 parts of the ship.

QUEER COINCIDENCE
Cherbourg, later: The Queen Mary took on $2,500,000 worth of gold bullion—the same amount as the Mauretania carried on her maiden voyage in 1907, when she won the Blue Riband of the Atlantic.—Reuter.

HUGE CROWDS
London: Crowds estimated at a quarter of a million thronged the Southampton dock, the shores of Southampton Water and the heights of the Isle of Wight and packed the decks of every available steamer and motor boat, and aeroplanes flew overhead as the liner Queen Mary cast off and moved slowly from her berth at 3.32 p.m. G.M.T. yesterday. The manoeuvre was carried out perfectly and in less than quarter of an hour. Then the great vessel, dwarfing all the craft she passed, gathered way and moved rapidly towards the sea.

INTERCHANGE OF TICKETS

Anglo-Dutch Lines' Arrangement

The Hague, To-day.
An agreement for a new interchange arrangement to honour each other's tickets on sea and air lines has been reached at the plenary conference between the British and Dutch air and sea lines.—Reuter.

DRUG TRAFFIC IN NORTH CHINA

DRACONIAN METHODS BY AUTHORITIES

JAPANESE CO-OPERATION SOUGHT AT GENEVA

Geneva, To-day.
Altogether 970 persons were sentenced to death and shot in China in 1935 for violation of the laws prohibiting trading in and consumption of manufactured drugs, stated Mr. Victor Hoo at a meeting of the League Opium Committee yesterday afternoon, during the discussion on the narcotic situation in China.

Mr. Hoo outlined the measures enforced by the Central Political Committee of the Kuomintang, and added: "The life of the nation depends on the struggle against drugs, which we must fight to the bitter end."

He was informed that draconian methods had been adopted to restrict the activities of clandestine factories and traffickers in manufactured goods wherever the problem was not complicated by factors outside the control of the Chinese authorities. The biggest difficulty, which was at present insoluble without the collaboration of other countries, was the action of certain foreigners in taking advantage of their privileged position to indulge in the trade in drugs on a vast scale, paralysing by the manufactured drugs concerned the effects of the Chinese measures. The situation was still very grave in certain parts of China, especially North China.

JAPANESE TROOPS IN NORTH CHINA

Explanation Of Increase Rejected By Nanking Government

Nanking, To-day.
The Chinese Government has rejected the Japanese explanation of the recent increase of Japanese troops in North China, as due to the "unstable conditions" there. It has instructed the Chinese Ambassador at Tokyo to make further representations on the matter.—Reuter.

SABOTAGE AT NAVAL YARDS

No Disciplinary Action Contemplated

London, To-day.
The formal investigation of the alleged acts of sabotage in the Admiralty dockyards did not reveal who was directly responsible, states Lord Stanley, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, in a written reply to Mr. W. Gallacher (Comm. W. File). Therefore no disciplinary action will be taken against anyone in connection with the matter.—Reuter.

FILIPINO PLANE FLIGHT

DEPARTURE AGAIN POSTPONED

Manila, To-day.
The departure of the Filipino plane Laoag has been further postponed to to-morrow morning.—Reuter.

Earlier messages said that two Filipino aviators, Antonio Arnaiz and Juan Calvo, who were planning to take off from Laoag, North Luzon, for Hong Kong yesterday on the first leg of their flight to Madrid, would establish the record of being the first Filipinos in history to fly beyond their own shores.

Their plane was named the "Philippines Commonwealth," and they hoped to reach Hong Kong within five hours. They would carry mails as far as Hong Kong.

Mr. Lyall, the British assessor on the committee, stated that the Changli district in the demilitarised zone had 131 opium shops. The Governor attempted to deal with the situation, but as the majority of the shops were run by Japanese, he was removed for being anti-Japanese.

He said that most of the 323 opium dens in Amoy and 319 in Foochow were run by Japanese subjects, nearly all Formosans. "If the Chinese people become convinced that Japan is chiefly blame-worthy for lives wrecked by heroin the hatred engendered may last for generations."

He recalled that the Opium War of 1839 had embittered the Anglo-Chinese relations for nearly a century, and appealed to Japan not to make the same mistake.

The Japanese delegate, Mr. Hotta, stated that the Japanese authorities were not well informed on the subject. The Japanese Government would make every effort to clear up the matter.—Reuter.

JAPANESE CONSULAR CHANGES

Shanghai, To-day.
It is understood that Mr. Kawai, Consul-General at Canton, will shortly be transferred to Shanghai, to succeed Mr. Ishii, who will be appointed Japanese Minister to Siam.—Reuter.

NEW ORDER IN INDIA

Provincial Autonomy From Next Year

London, To-day.
The date April 1, 1937, has been fixed for the introduction of provincial autonomy in India under the new constitution and for the separation of Burma. Draft Orders in Council will be considered by Parliament after Whitsun. They also provide for the distribution of certain revenues between the Centre and the Provinces, for grants-in-aid for certain provinces, as recommended in the recent Niemeyer Report, and for a transitional period between the present and the new regimes.—Reuter.

President Roosevelt is shown above as he addressed 2,000 Democratic stalwarts at the National Democratic Club's Jefferson Day dinner in New York last month. He pledged the New Deal to fight for higher wages for the workers and more income for farmers.

TROOP TRANSPORTATION TO ADDIS ABABA

ITALIAN PLAN FRUSTRATED BY RAILWAY ADMINISTRATION

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL

Djibouti, To-day.
The Italian plan to transport a large number of soldiers from Direddawa to Addis Ababa by rail had to be abandoned because of the resistance offered by the railway administration. Despite this the railway administration has its hands full in coping with the immense quantities of material, particularly benzene, which the Italian authorities want carried with all possible speed.

In the first week after the occupation of Addis Ababa the Italian authorities paid for railway charges for freight 500,000 French francs, and in the current week the freight charges have already totalled 100,000 French francs, which must be paid in cash before the goods will be allowed to the destination.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Huge Finance Programme In America

Washington, To-day.
Mr. Henry A. Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, announces that he is asking for $1,000,000,000 as additional money in the middle of June to finance the programme which will be announced on June 1. This amount, together with $1,050,000,000 in refunding offerings, will bring the total amount of the financing to $2,050,000,000, one of the largest ever floated in peace time.—Reuter.

BUDGET SECRETS LEAKAGE

Sequel To Recent Enquiry

London, To-day.
Mr. Leslie Thomas, son of the former Colonial Secretary, has resigned his partnership in Belisha and Co., in connection with the alleged leakage of budget secrets. Meeting Mr. J. H. Thomas, the election committee of Derby unanimously reaffirmed their complete confidence in and loyalty to him, hoping that he would continue to represent the constituency.—Reuter.

TENSION INCREASED IN LAST 24 HOURS

ALL TELEPHONE LINES DESTROYED

BOMB OUTRAGES IN JAFFA

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL

Jerusalem, To-day.

The situation in Palestine has become still more serious in the last 24 hours, British troops coming frequently into armed conflict with small groups of rebellious Arabs in all parts of the country. The British High Commissioner has requested reinforcements from Egypt, as the present British troops in Palestine are too weak to cope with the situation. News received here states that one section of the mixed formations with small armoured-cars left Cairo for Haifa yesterday.

The Arabs have destroyed the telephone lines everywhere. Troop transports from Jerusalem to Haifa are continuously being shot at from the rear. The situation in Nablus is so grave that British women and children are leaving the town for Jerusalem. Numerous Jewish colonists have left their farms and fled to Jerusalem. The chief aim of the Arabs for the time being seems to be to bring the freight transports to a standstill. The road between Jerusalem and Haifa is the continual scene of surprise attacks.

According to the official communication of the High Commissioner, a number of bombs were thrown in Jaffa on Tuesday and yesterday morning.

Cairo: "A Committee for the aid of Palestine" was formed yesterday. Three resolutions were adopted:

- (1) To lodge a protest against the measures of the British Mandatory Government;
- (2) To support the Arabs in their struggle;
- (3) To send a commission to Palestine to study the situation on the spot.—Trans-Ocean Service.

CASUALTY LIST

Jerusalem: The casualties in the disturbances since April 19 are reported to show that one European has been killed and 17 injured, including seven British police officers, two soldiers and eight civilians. Twenty-four Jews and 22 Moslems have been killed, and two Christians. The injured include 182 Moslems, 105 Jews and 44 Christians. Some 969 Arabs and 275 Jews have been arrested, the majority of whom are accused of breaking the curfew order.

MORE TROOPS
London: It is learned that the despatch of another battalion from Egypt to Palestine has been authorised.—Reuter.

RUMOURS DENIED

London: An official communication issued in Jerusalem denies that any British soldier has been killed in the course of the disturbances. Denial is also given to the report in circulation to the effect that a police patrol had been surrounded by a mob at Gaza and severely beaten. The communication records sporadic outbreaks of lawlessness in the preceding 24 hours, but the only casualty has been the accidental killing of an Arab watchman by an Arab constable in the village of Lydda. The administration of the Palestine Mandate is on the agenda of the League Mandates commission, the half-yearly session of which opened at Geneva yesterday. A press message says that the commission re-elected as President the Italian member, Marchese Theodoli, who is attending despite Italy's abstention from League work, since all the members of the commission are appointed in their personal capacity and not as representatives of their respective Governments.—British Wireless Service.

WEATHER REPORT

The ridge of high pressure has partially dispersed, leaving a weak anti-cyclone to the east of Japan. The depression remains over Manchuria and another covers the Southern Philippines. The local forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory this morning, is: north-east winds, moderate; cloudy, occasional rain.

TRAIN ATTACKED BY BANDITS

Thirteen People Killed And Ten Wounded

Harbin, To-day.
Thirteen people were killed and 10 wounded when 100 bandits attacked and derailed a train on the Muling line, which is a branch of the Harbin-Pogranichnaya railway. The dead include two Japanese army captains.—Reuter.

MORE STRIKES IN FRANCE

Staying-In Tactics Adopted

AUTHORITIES CONCERNED

Paris, To-day.

Government circles are most concerned at the extension of the strike in engineering works around Paris and other parts of France, especially the evolution of a staying-in strike, which is a new phenomenon in France. A spectacle symptomatic of it is the stream of workmen's wives and daughters staggering to the factories under bundles of clothing, bedding and provisions.

The staying-in tactics are designed to prevent the former employers engaging blackleg labour. The strikers are encouraged to resist by the fact that 2,000 workers in the Hotchkiss works at La Vallée obtained satisfaction of their demands. The larger works at present involved include the Nieuport aeroplane works, the Salmson aviation factory at Boulogne-sur-Seine, the Renault works and the Hispano-Suiza factory.—Reuter.

BRIDGE NOTES

PARTNER OR OPPONENT?

By Ely Culbertson

Paradoxically, perhaps, the expert often appears at his worst in a game with three dubs. Actually, there is sound basis for this: Expert contract is so essentially a partnership affair that a player accustomed to close co-operation must feel lost when deprived of it. The dubs, on the other hand, never having known the meaning of co-operation, merely continue on their blithe, lone wolf course with sublime [and too often justified] faith in the blind goddess.

West, in the hand shown below, was an expert. Despite that fact, or, perhaps, because of it, he received a terrific bawling out from his dub partner for "handing his opponents their three no trump contract on a silver tray."

"—instilled new life into me"

"Three months ago I started taking Sanatogen on the advice of my doctor. My system had been undermined by years of neurotic strain and mental debility and I could not expect miracles to happen.

But a miracle did happen, and in a few short weeks I found myself acquiring a new sense of well-being. Depression disappeared. All neurotic tendencies have gone. Now after three months of regular treatment of Sanatogen, I am reborn. Sanatogen has instilled new life into me. It is amazing."

J.M.

A miracle? No! Simply the logical effect of a true scientific nerve-food on weakened nerves. Sanatogen contains the two vital elements—glycero-phosphate and pure milk albumin—your nerve cells need. It must strengthen and revitalise your body and nerves.

Why not try it for yourself and feel the wonderful influence of Sanatogen on your whole health and happiness.

CRAIGENGOWER TOO GOOD FOR I.R.C.

ZIMMERN PLAYS AT TOP OF HIS FORM

"B" DIVISION TENNIS STRUGGLE

(By "Referee")

THE Craiengower Cricket Club team which last season played in the "A" Division of the Lawn Tennis League proved vastly superior to the Indian Recreation Club in their "B" Division encounter at the Valley yesterday, when they won by 7 sets to 2, after leading by 4 sets to 2 at the completion of the second round.

It was quite obvious after yesterday's match that Craiengower will offer the Chinese R.C. a serious challenge for the title, as they have at least two good pairs who are good enough for three sets each! J. W. Leonard and Y. Hachiuma, who have played together for the last two or three seasons, both in the League and the Colony Championships, were in a class of their own, while Robert Choa and F. R. Zimmern are a steady pair with a wide variety of strokes at their disposal.

Zimmern gave a brilliant display yesterday, his work at the net and overhead from all parts of the court being very sound throughout. He has a good service, while his volleying and smashing was most impressive. He was very quick on his feet and, although his positioning could be polished up, he made Choa an admirable partner.

The Kowloon Cricket Club, who are going to make a determined bid for the "B" Division Lawn Tennis League title, commenced their season with an easy though unconvincing win over the Chinese R.C.'s "over 40" team by 7 sets to 2 at Causeway Bay yesterday.

KOWLOON TONG DEFEATED BY RECREIO IMPRESSIVE DEBUT

The first League Lawn Tennis match in the history of the Kowloon Tong Club resulted in a win for Club de Recreio by the odd set in nine in the "C" Division yesterday.

J. J. Remedios In Good Form

LOSERS' LACK OF PRACTICE VERY EVIDENT

Club de Recreio gave an indication of their strength in the "B" Division of the Lawn Tennis League yesterday, when they beat the Central British Association by 8 sets to 1 without, apparently, having to exert themselves.

J. J. Remedios and A. E. Xavier were the strongest Recreio pair, playing with good understanding and storming the net throughout their encounters. Remedios, in particular, was very accurate with some excellent driving, which invariably left his opponents standing.

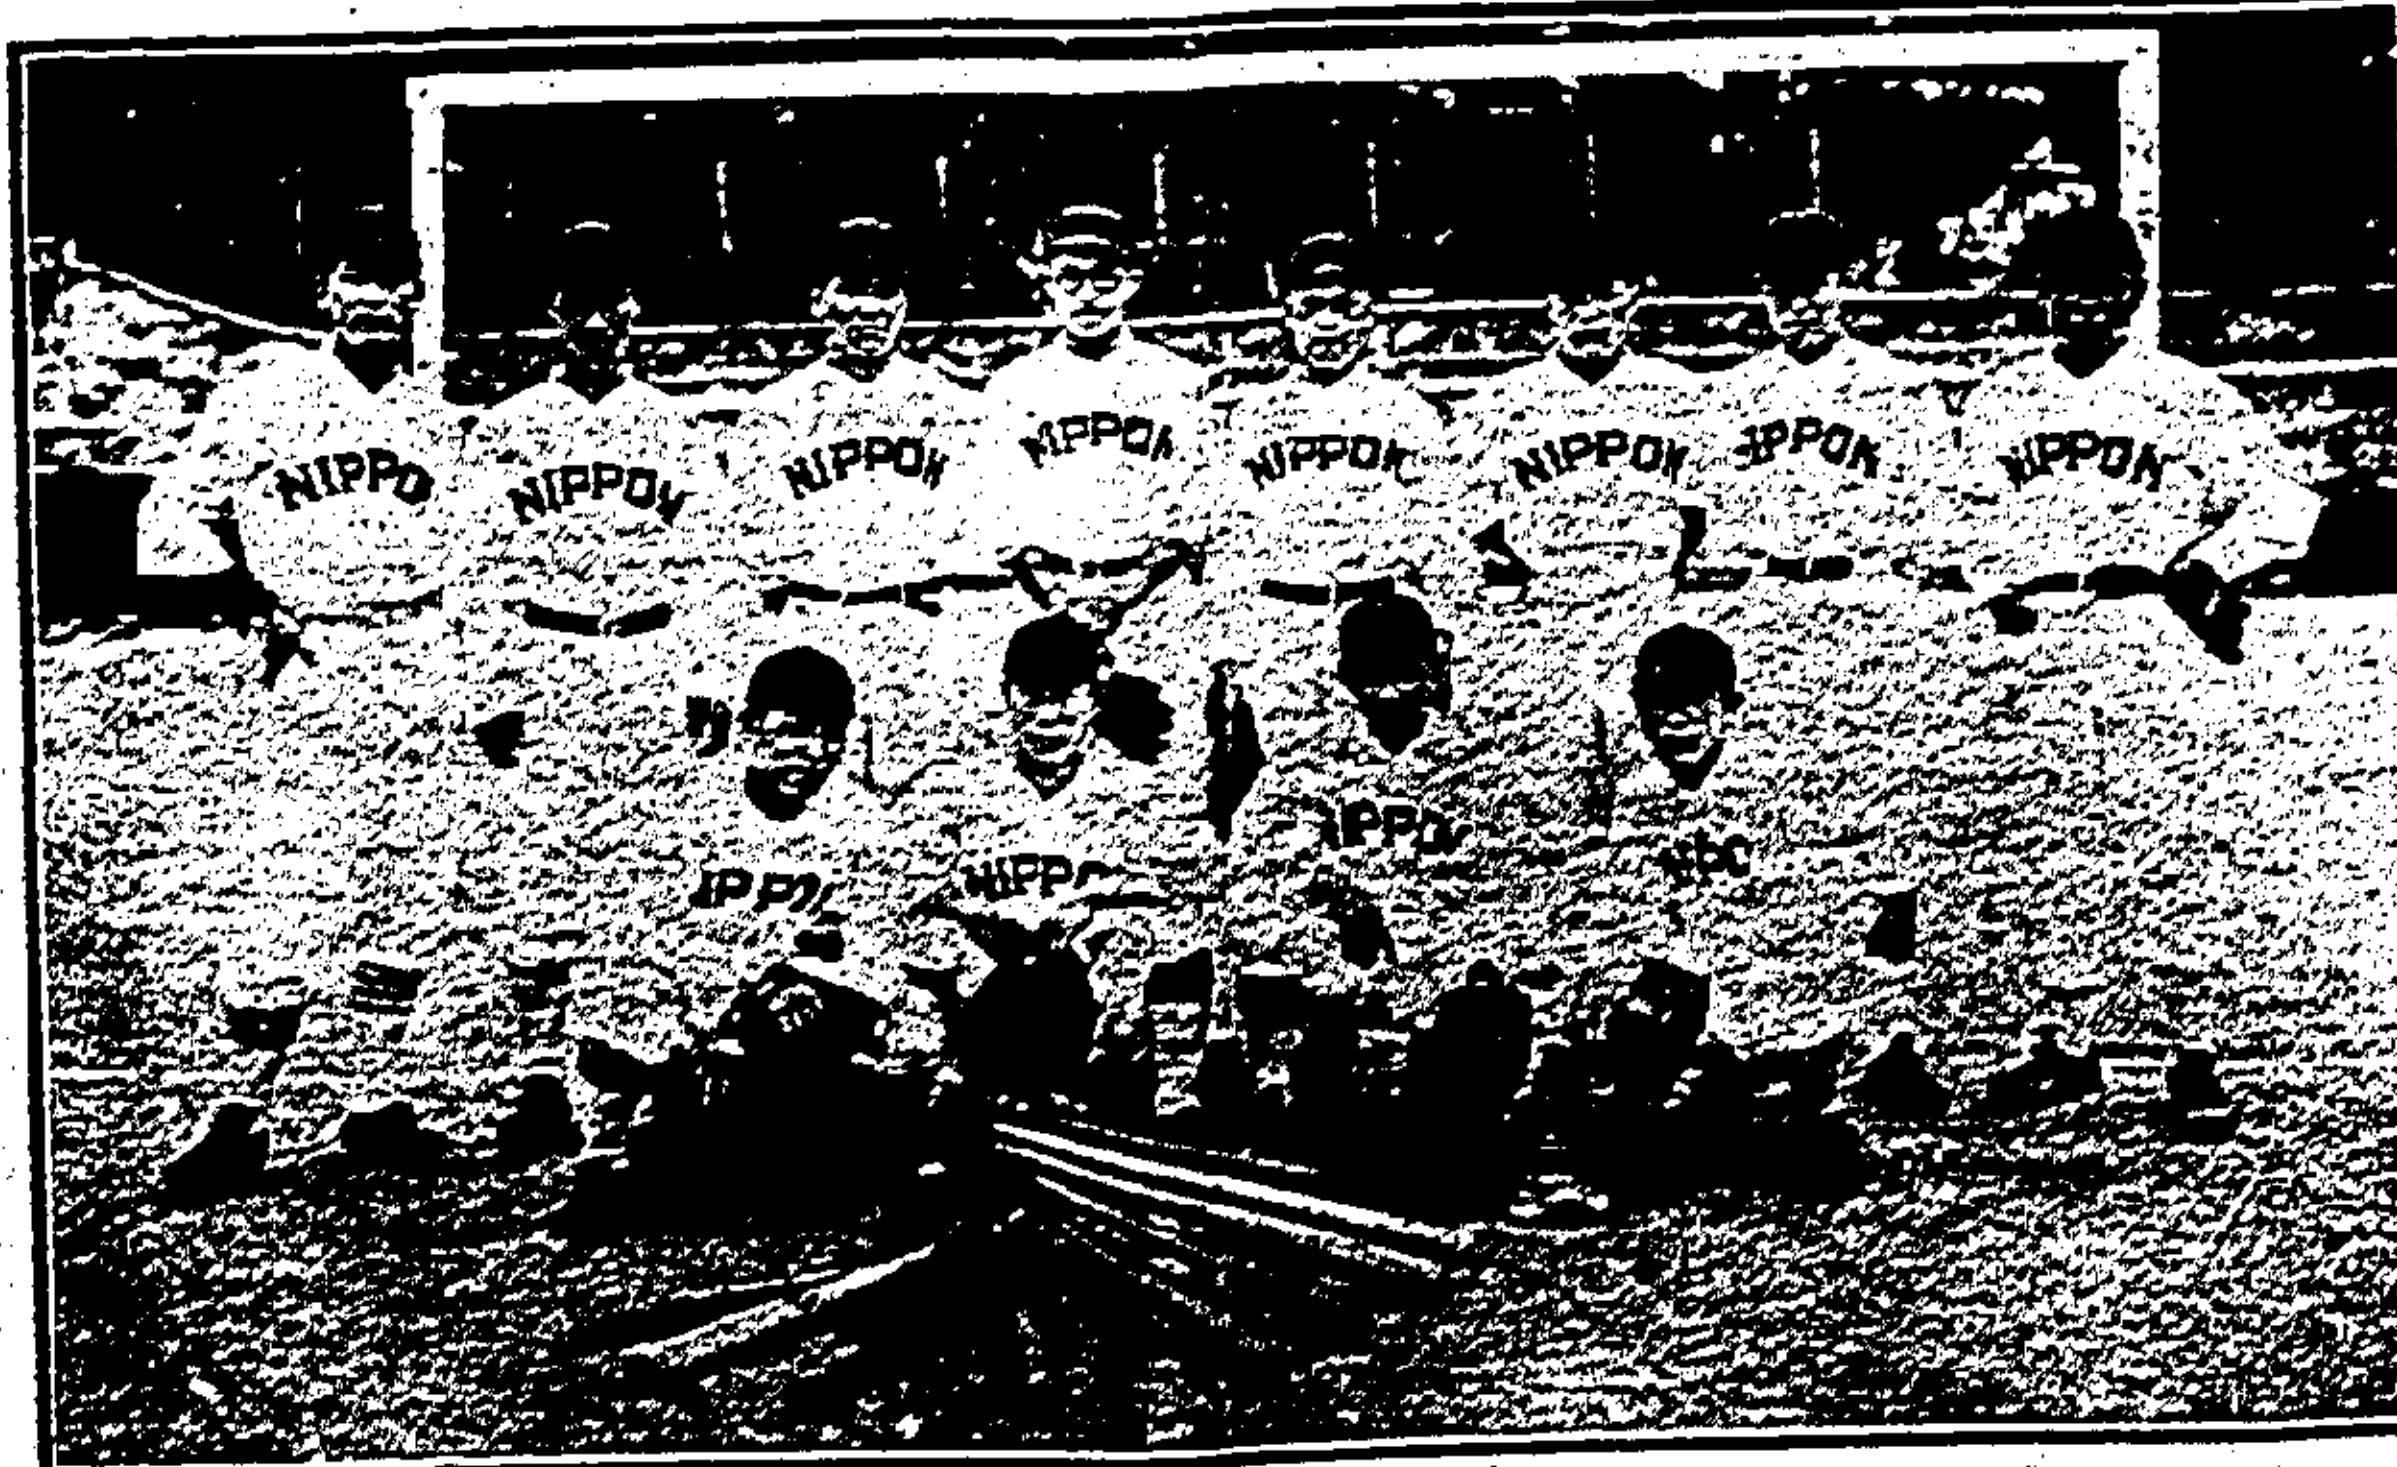

W. A. Reed and A. A. Remedios dropped a set to Ferguson and Smith, but otherwise were very steady.

Persistent Lobbing

So far as Carvalho and Oliveira were concerned, their persistent lobbing gave them very few points. They were too ready to play a baseline game, and had the C. B. A. players forced the pace at all, they might easily have dropped a set, although they won all their three matches fairly comfortably.

The Japanese baseball team, above, were narrowly beaten by the Overseas Chinese by 8 runs to 7 in the opening game of the League a fortnight ago. They will be seen in action next Sunday against the Canadians at Causeway Bay. Mikuni, their pitcher, is standing on the extreme right. (K. Fujiyama).

EASTERN'S AIMS

Though it is not expected that the high standard of baseball witnessed last Sunday, when the Pui-Chin College engaged the Overseas Chinese and the Americans, will be maintained this coming Sunday, when the Japanese encounter the Canadians and the Volunteers meet Eastern at the new baseball ground at Causeway Bay, these games should nevertheless be interesting.

In the first game, which is scheduled to start at 9.30, the Japanese will meet the Canadians and, when the result of the last practice game between these two teams is recalled, it seems likely that the Japanese will win comfortably.

"C" DIVISION

K.C.C. Should Beat South China

NEEDLE CLASH IN OPENING PROGRAMME

(By "BASELINE")

The Kowloon Cricket Club (1) team and South China A.A. who are going to have a big say in the ultimate result of the "C" Division Lawn Tennis League Championship, will clash at the K.C.C. this afternoon, and the result of this match will be eagerly awaited by the C.R.C., the holders, the Recreio and L.R.C., all of whom should overcome their first hurdles with ease.

In Capell and Watson the K.C.C. have a pair who are likely to be well above the average in this division, while Gittins and White are capable of doing big things in the junior grade. Smith and Broadbridge are a very "if" combination. The K.C.C. should, however, just manage it.

The Army, who have in Warr a very promising player, are not to be treated lightly, although I doubt whether they are steady enough for League tennis.

Selected Teams

Selected teams are as follows:
Army T.C.: S.Q.M.S. Warr and S.S.M. Fowles, S.Q.M.S. Millar and Sergt. King, S/Sergt. Davis and S/Sergt. Cooper.

OCEAN VIEW LOOKS SNIP FOR HALF-MILE SCURRY

(By "Rapiet")

THE Sixth Extra Race Meeting, extending over two days, will mark the end of the first half of the local racing season under the auspices of the Hong Kong Jockey Club, and all that is necessary to ensure its success will be for the weather to be on its best behaviour. At any rate, let us hope that this meeting will be conducted under conditions more favourable than its predecessor.

Included in the programme for Saturday there are to be two exceptionally fine events, both of which are confined to "A" Class China and Australian ponies, the May Handicap and Warwick Farm Handicap respectively.

The first race should develop into a real battle between King's Warden and Royal Scot. Mr. Norman Deitz will again be entrusted with the task of riding Royal Scot, which will carry a 7 lb. penalty after its easy win at the previous meeting. I have a strong fancy for Royal Scot, as the mile is its best distance, whereas King's Warden prefers a little longer race. In the race for Australian ponies the absence of Strathroy will make it a difficult problem to nominate the winner, especially as the race will be over six furlongs.

Readers are reminded that the first saddling bell on Saturday will be rung at 1.30 p.m., and that on Monday it will be rung at 12.30 p.m.

May Handicap—One Mile

Diana Bay has not entered for this event, and in its absence there should be a great battle between King's Warden (Mr. G. U. da Rosa) and Royal Scot.

King's Warden has again been allotted top weight, giving a concession of 10 lbs. to Royal Scot, which, with Mr. Deitz up, is confidently expected to repeat its previous success, as it is believed that the mile is a little too short for King's Warden. On the other hand, Gladiator (Mr. Ip Kui Ying) must not be overlooked. It will be recalled that under Mr. L. G. Frost, and carrying 158 lbs., Gladiator won the Victoria Stakes over the mile on the Second Day of the Annual Race Meeting, beating King's Warden (Mr. Marshall) by two lengths. On Saturday, it will only carry 140 lbs., and in view of Mr. Ip Kui Ying's rapid improvement in the saddle, this combination is quite capable of creating an upset.

TO-DAY'S LAWN BOWLS CARDS

FOUR OPEN PAIRS MATCHES

Due to the fact that several games had been mutually arranged and brought forward, there is only a small programme of four Open Pairs Lawn Bowls Championship matches down for decision this evening.

A very good match should be seen at the Kowloon Bowling Green Club, where C. Roza Pereira and C. Silva, of Club de Recreio, meet A. Steven and Dr. J. A. R. Selby.

Another good encounter will probably be seen on the Hong Kong Football Club green, where J. Cavanagh, who is the present joint holder of the Pairs title with M. J. Medina, and A. E. Coates meet C. H. and J. J. Basto, of Club de Recreio.

The following is to-day's programme:

C. Roza Pereira and C. Silva v. A. Steven and J. A. R. Selby (K.B.G.C.)
T. Coleman and G. N. Mitchell v. D. C. S. Alves and F. V. V. Ribeiro (P.E.C.)
L. J. Silva and A. J. Alves v. F. M. el Arculli and A. Bakar (C.S.C.C.)
C. H. Basto and J. J. Basto v. A. E. Coates and J. V. Cavanagh (H.K.F.C.)

Open Pairs Tournney Makes Progress

TWO COUPLES RETIRE

Several matches were played in the first Round of the Open Pairs Lawn Bowls championship yesterday, C. J. Tacchi and R. Basa, two veterans, trouncing F. X. Delgado and V. Atienza by 29 shots to 11 on the bumpy Police green, while a very close struggle was witnessed on Craiengower's green, where Teddy Fincher and Craig, of the K.C.C., were eliminated by S. M. Rumsdell and A. M. Wahab, of the L.R.C., who won by 21 shots to 19 after being led up till the 13th end, where a four changed the fortunes of the game.

At the K.C.C. J. McKelvie and J. V. Ramsay, of Kowloon Docks, beat G.M.P. Remedios, the Shanghai Interporter, and B. Basto by 24 shots to 15, two fours on the 11th and 12th heads turning the match in their favour. At Ming Yuen the game between M. Y. Adal and A. R. Dallah, of the L.R.C. and R. R. Wood and H. E. Strange, of the Civil Service C.C. (Continued on Page 10)

EXHIBITION SWIMMING

Programme Against Filipinos

PROBABLE COLONY
REPRESENTATIVES

(By "CRAWL")

Although no replies have been received from the various swimming clubs in the Colony nominating swimmers to take part in the trials next Friday in preparation for the visit of the Philippines' Olympic Swimming team, there is every reason to believe that the Colony will be amply represented by members of the Victoria Recreation Club, who possess the cream of Hong Kong's leading swimmers.

The programme of five events will take place next Monday at the V.R.C. commencing at 6 p.m. They are:—100 Yards Free style, 100 Yards Back-stroke, 200 Yards Breast-Stroke, 440 Yards Free Style and 300 Yards Medley Relay consisting of 100 Yards each of Back Stroke, Breast Stroke and Free Style.

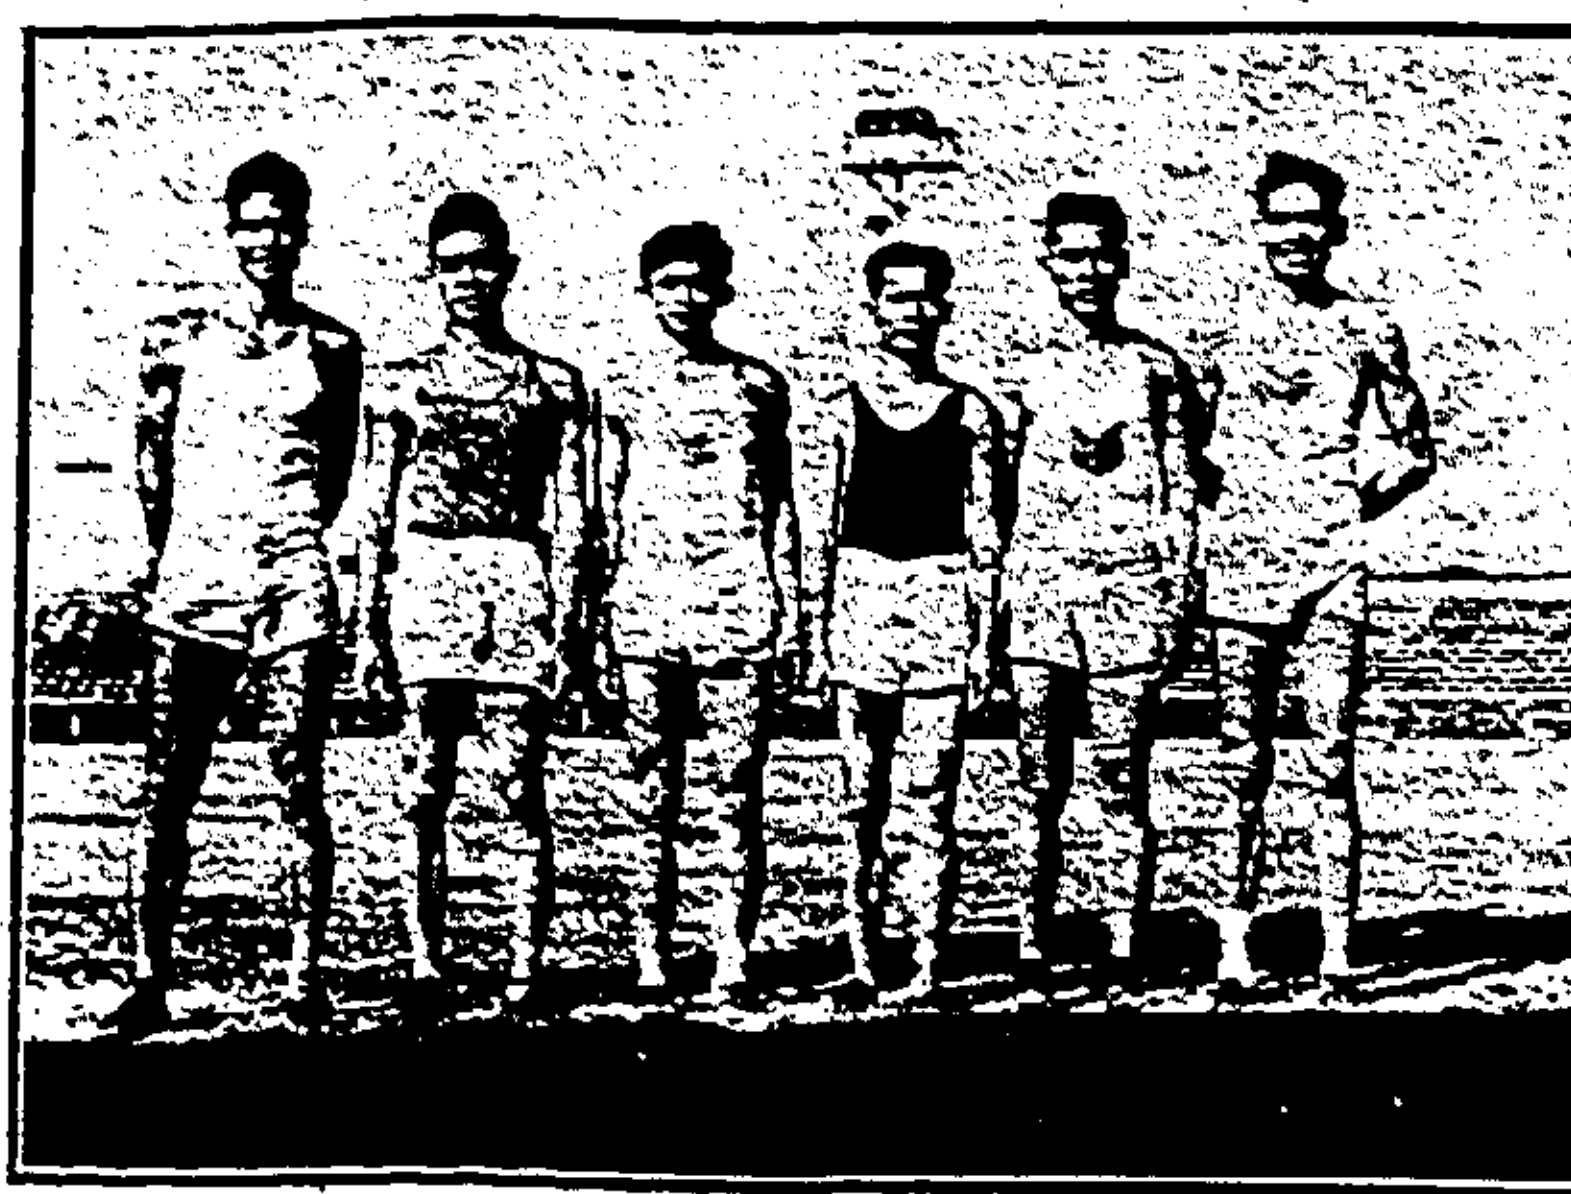

Wilfred Lawrence, the Colony champion, and Chan Chan-hing, will probably swim in the first event, while Lionel Roza-Pereira and Lau Po-hei, if the latter is in the Colony, will swim in the Back-Stroke event.

Breaststroke Problem

The 200 Yards Breast-Stroke will present a problem, as the only exponent of this stroke able to give Yldefonso, of the Philippines, who has been credited with having broken the world mark, a race, is Kwok Chun-hang, the Colony and Interport champion, who is at present in Shanghai. Wong Lu-man, the Interport reserve, will probably qualify with K. Nazarin, of the V.R.C.

The 440 will probably see Wilfred Lawrence and Lionel Roza-Pereira wearing the Colony's colours, while the Medley Relay team will probably be Chan Chan-hing (free style), Wong Lu-man (Breaststroke) and Lau Po-hei (Backstroke).

Six members of the Philippine track and field delegation who will represent the Islands at the Eleventh World Olympiad in Berlin next August. Left to right: Miguel S. White, Antonio M. Salcedo, Nino T. Ramirez, Theodore P. Malasig, Nemesio de Guzman and Simeon G. Toribio. All will be featured in an exhibition against local talent next Monday afternoon at Caroline Hill.

"OVER 40" C.R.C. TEAM LOSE

The man of the match was undoubtedly F. K. Lau, "grand old man" of C.R.C. tennis. Despite the fact that he has passed the half-century mark, he is still as active this season as he was six years ago. His positioning is superb and his lobbing is up to anything seen in "A" Division. Had he had a more experienced partner yesterday, he would probably have won three sets and thus given the old-timers a sporting chance. What I like about Lau is the fact that he is a perfect loser, no matter what the circumstances.

Gray and Crawford did not do as well as was expected, though they won their three sets—in the game against Hon and Tsang they were 5-3 down before they steadied up to win four games off the reel. They must remember that the loss of a set by them will greatly jeopardise their team's chances. A little more steadiness is what is required from this pairing.

Steadiest Pair

Ramsey and Burnett are without a doubt the K.C.C.'s steadiest combination, and I am inclined to believe that the side's hopes for success in the race for divisional honours will revolve round the fortunes of this partnership. They, however, need to add a little more pace to their strokes and should not be over-cautious overhead.

Mackay and Jack took two sets to settle down and then gave a promising display. They are, however, inclined to be erratic, and I cannot see them winning a much needed set against stronger Clubs, though I feel sure they will do considerably better against faster opponents.

CHANCE FOR YOUNG ENGLAND IN THE TESTS

TEMPERAMENT HAS IMPORTANT ROLE

NORTH V. SOUTH GAMES SHOULD BE HELPFUL

TWO COMING BOWLERS

(By Jack Hobbs)

London, May 2.

A FEW months ago we regarded this cricket season as uninteresting because no Australian or South African team was to tour here. Now, on the opening day, everyone is talking about our team to go to Australia in September, and much curiosity centres round the India team.

It means that, after all, we are in for a quite eventful time. "Australia" has been on every tongue at the various grounds where practice games have been in progress, so I want to give a few words of advice.

We shall all be busy at the game of choosing the team we should like to see sent out to fight to regain the Ashes. Don't let us do too much until the season has advanced a bit. If we did, we should only have to add more names to the list, and by July find ourselves with a couple of dozen candidates.

What we have to study is how the wickets are taken and how the runs are made; and against what sort of opposition; not merely good figures, which are sometimes deceptive, or, at least, flattering.

Question Of Temperament

The chief thing when you are considering a team for Australia is the temperament of the player. In this connection, I am pleased to see a North v South match has been arranged at Lord's. This should help us to sort out a few of the players from the viewpoint of temperament. It introduces the "needle" element.

It might have been still better to play it in a Yorkshire town, where the crowd would be more biased than it is at Lord's.

Still, there is something in the Lord's atmosphere which tests the young player's nerves.

As I emphasised in "My Life Story," published last year, I should really like to see two North v South matches played every season; one at Lord's and the other at Sheffield.

No Urge To Win

This would give the players the nearest approach to the Test Match atmosphere.

When the spectators are exceptionally keen on the result, and do a bit of barracking, players have to overcome the spirit of antagonism.

Those who rise to the occasion have the temperament for which the selectors are looking. England v Rest matches are a waste of time.

CRAIGENGOWER TOO GOOD FOR I.R.C.

Playing with a shortened grip, he was very sound in his volleying and angle-volleys, while he imparted terrific spin to some of his back-hand shots. Howard was steady and sound on his service. He positioned himself well, but was obviously ill at ease in the opening two sets, when Lai failed to send over one good service or drive.

The Indians had only one reliable pair—M. R. Abbas and M. el Arculli, who fully extended the opposition, including the Leonard-Hachiuma combine, despite an adverse score of 5-1.

A feature of the I.R.C. pair's play was their timely advances to the net, where Arculli "killed" with deadly precision, but Abbas failed badly in his angle-volleys, although he was featured in numerous splendid volleying duels at the net.

Unsuited Pair

Pereira and Y. el Arculli were totally unsuited to each other, and whereas the former was "alive" on his feet, the latter failed to retrieve what appeared to be fairly easy returns. One of the bright features of the I.R.C. team was the display of their third string.

Fux is definitely an acquisition to the team, and had he been given better support he might have secured at least two sets. He sent over some very fast services and was sound in

G. O. M. of The C.R.C.

AT the age of 53 years, Lau Fook-ki is still one of the most active members of the Chinese Recreation Club and is also the captain of their No. 2 team in the "B" Division of the Lawn Tennis League.

Lau was educated at the Diocesan Boys' School, where his favourite game was cricket. He did not go in for any other form of sport apart from an occasional swim in the summer, and it was not till he was 35 years old that he took to tennis. In spite of this late start, however, he soon developed into a good League player and has been a member of eleven of C.R.C.'s "B" Division champion teams. He is essentially a "B" Division player, though he has also had some experience in the premier division of the League.

Popularly known to his club-mates as "Lau-sky," our personality is one of those older members of the Chinese community who believe very firmly in all forms of sport as an aid to moulding character, and to that end he gives his best encouragement to the younger generation, not only in the sphere of sport, but also in all other walks of life.

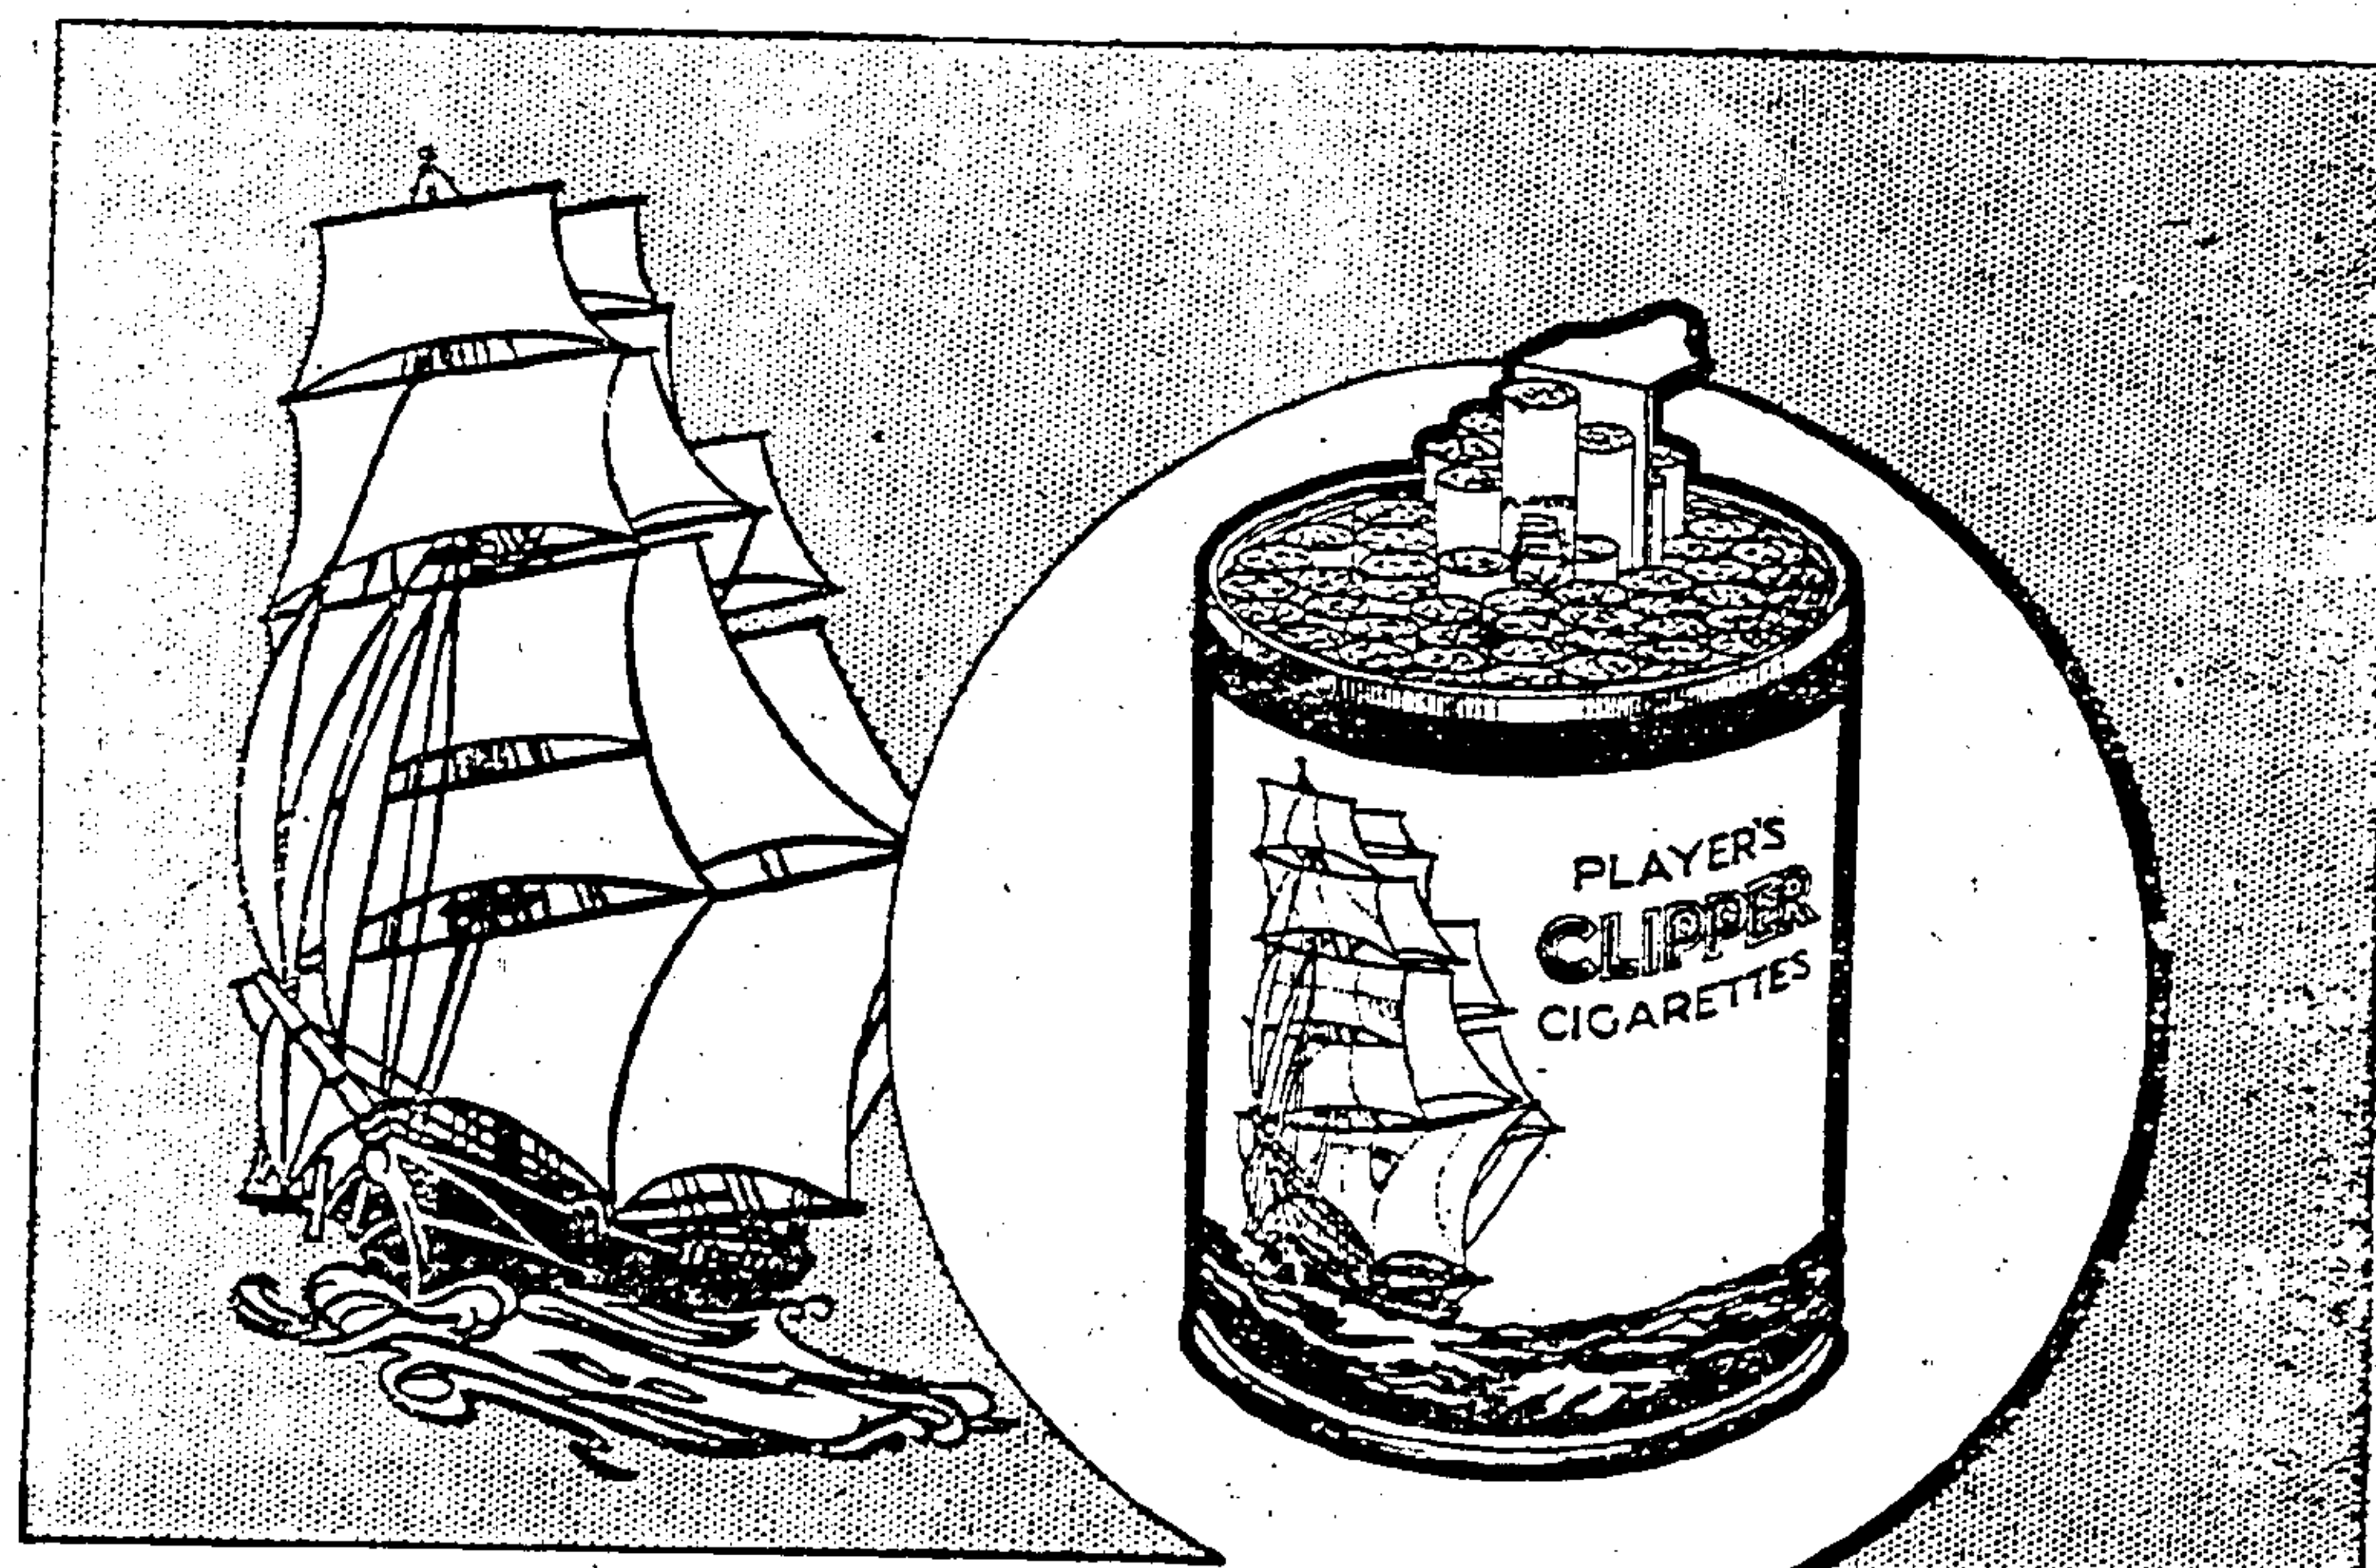

RECREIO TAKE EIGHT SETS FROM C.B.A.

Smith and Ferguson were the pick of the C.B.A. team and secured their only set. With practice, however, the other two pairs should show some improvement, especially after they have played a few more matches together.

his fore and backhand shots. He was deadly at the net and rarely missed a kill. Kitchell made his debut in the "B" Division and performed fairly well, although his attempts to kill high balls lost him many valuable points. His service appears to be his biggest fault. One of the bright features of the I.R.C. team was the display of their third string.

With F. D. Pereira partnering Bux, the I.R.C. will be assured of a strong second string, with M. R. Abbas and M. el Arculli filling the first position.

Happy Days Ahead

There have been a number of local company meetings recently, and they have been remarkable in their unanimity in stressing the difficult trading conditions which the Colony has experienced in the course of the last year. The latest of these was the meeting of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Hotels, Ltd., at which Mr. Taggart, while being able to announce a substantial reduction in the company's mortgage liability of over $165,000, had again to point to the fact that the northern sections of the company's business suffered considerably during the past year from the unstable exchange conditions. Hotels generally, and especially in the East, depend to a great extent on the tourist traffic. Anything therefore that tends to interfere with that traffic must of necessity be reflected in decreased takings by the "luxury" establishments. However, the local institution has agreed upon a drastic scheme of reconstruction, and there is no reason to suppose that it will not return to its former prosperous days in the future.

We have been told that to mention the "depression" is taboo; that to do so reflects a defeatist attitude with unprofitable psychological effects. All this may be so, but there is nothing to be gained by shutting one's eyes to business conditions or in refusing to accept them at their real value. Surely it is only axiomatic to say that without thorough analysis of the difficulties to be overcome it is hardly possible that the best means to do so can be devised. There appears to us to be scope for a certain "rationalisation" of business in the Colony. "Rationalisation," we know, is one of those bogey words to which has been attached a somewhat sinister meaning, generally conveying the idea of frustration and interference. But it is used in the absence of any other term which expresses what is meant as well. Briefly the idea is that the various businesses of an allied or complementary nature should get together and decide on matters of policy, not in open or covert competition but in combination. For, after all, the interests of one member of a group are the interests of another, no less than the interests of the whole group combined. To take hotels as an example. It is surely in their combined and collective interests that every encouragement should be extended to the tourist traffic. The more people that can be attracted to the Colony the more money there will be spent here. Hotels and the entertainment industry especially are presumably out to welcome any business which can be brought to the Colony by this means. A collective drive on the part of those interested would therefore seem to be only commonsense, for the benefit of all concerned.

One has not heard much locally of the Hong Kong Travel Association lately; but there is evidence that that body is not sitting still. Reference was made not long ago in a Singapore paper to the excellent folder recently issued by the Association, advertising the charms of Hong Kong. The paper in question remarked that the folder was infinitely better produced and printed than those issued in the Straits.

MISSION TO
SIAMChinese Goodwill
Group's Visit

TOUR OF COUNTRY

"The main object of this Chinese Goodwill Mission to Siam is to strengthen the ties between these two countries and also to enquire into the welfare of the vast Chinese population of Siam, who have always been well cared for by the Chinese Government," said Mr. Ping Ling, Chairman of the Goodwill Mission, comprising Nanking and Shanghai Government specialists, bankers and industrialists, who arrived in the Colony this morning from Shanghai by the m.v. Victoria.

Members of the Mission are Mr. Kan Han-ling (Vice-Chairman), Mr. Yui Ming, Mr. Lion Ho, Mr. Kan Lee, Mr. Fonn Tse-tsing, Mr. Wang Tse-sing, Mr. Hwang Tien-chia, Mr. Ma Chaoyang, Mr. Chen Tsung-kan, Mr. Yang Fung-ling, Mr. Chao Yuming, Mr. Liu Yih-liang, Mr. Yung Thomson and Mr. Yieh Tsiang Fah. Mr. Ping Ling stated that they were also returning the compliment, so to speak, of a Siam Goodwill Mission which had recently paid a visit to China. They were carrying no economic or other treaties to Siam from the Nanking Government, and during their stay in Bangkok, which was their first destination, they would make plans for an extensive tour of the country.

LOCAL TRAFFIC
ACCIDENTS13 People Injured
Last Week

In the Colony of Hong Kong, including the Island, Kowloon and New Territories, during the week ended at 8 a.m. on Saturday last, there were altogether 56 traffic accidents, as the result of which 13 persons were injured.

Of the persons injured, 11 were pedestrians who were either walking or running across the road and were struck by vehicles.

One bicycle rider and one public ricksha puller were injured as the result of collisions between vehicles.

Of the 56 accidents, 32 were collisions between vehicles; 14 were collisions between vehicles and pedestrians; and 10 accidents were due to other causes.

A fine of $2,500, with the alternative of one year's hard labour, plus a year's hard labour without the option, was imposed on an unemployed man named Kong Yik-tak, of No. 200 Fa Fuen Street, by Mr. E. Himsforth, at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. Defendant was charged with the unlawful possession of heroin pills and manufacturing them at the address.

and was, indeed, held up to the Singapore authorities as a criterion to be followed. This is all to the good. We have here unrivalled attractions for the visitor; there cannot possibly be too much publicity about them if tourists are to be encouraged to come here and like it. In spite of all the direful reports at recent company meetings there was evident in most of them a certain optimism that conditions are improving. The next thing seems to be to take advantage of that rift in the clouds to the very fullest extent. Special co-operation would seem to be indicated.

SPEECH REFRESHMENT

A Sip or two of water was Mr. Chamberlain's only refreshment during his Budget speech last month. This austerity, however, has not always prevailed.

Mr. Gladstone's egg-nogg—mixed by Mrs. Gladstone—was a familiar accompaniment of his Budget oration.

One can remember Mr. Churchill making good Parliamentary play—during a Budget passage dealing with excise—with a coloured drink. This might have been either cold tea or Charles Lamb's favourite "cold brandy and water."

Plain water, of course, sufficed for Mr. Snowden. So it did for Mr. Lloyd George.

When he introduced the "People's Budget" Mr. Churchill's handing him a glass was one of the dramatic moments in the "longest ever" Budget speech.

IN OTHER DAYS

Great Parliamentarians of earlier times were less abstemious.

Lord Brougham refreshed himself so often during one long speech in the House of Lords on Reform that he slid to his knees in passionate entreaty to the peers to pass the bill—and could not rise.

Charles Fox, on the other hand, used to suck oranges. He offered a manly and inspiring spectacle as pips, quips and classical quotations spurted from his mouth.

Wilberforce had resort to secret and even furtive measures. To steady his nerve and arrange his ideas the anti-slavery leader took an opium pill.

MEN BEHIND THE KING
MOST IMPORTANT MAN
IN ENGLANDHIS MAJESTY HAS ABLEST PRIVATE SECRETARY IN WORLD

(By William J. Makin)

WHO are the men behind the King, the select circle which is bound to influence the decisions of Royalty in the future?

As Prince of Wales, our present King had a host of friends and at least a dozen young men could claim to be his intimates. They were seen often together, dining together, going to dances together. But during the past three years those West End acquaintances have disappeared. With the realisation that he was soon to be King Edward VIII, there developed a serious outlook in this man of 40.

He set out to discover serious and tactful men of affairs. They are now a little Cabinet whose wide knowledge and shrewd advice will be behind King Edward when he discards traditions or launches innovations. This little circle of men contains some of the cleverest personalities in Britain to-day. Many of them are old and tried friends. All of them work hard; all are devoted to King Edward.

That old Italian diplomat, Niccolò Machiavelli, has written down many pertinent remarks on how a prince should choose his friends. It can be said of King Edward that he is a shrewd judge of men, and very rarely wrong. And once a man has been enlisted in his service, it is King Edward himself who will defend that man against the whispered envious of others.

A Judge Of Men

I have watched King Edward during his official tours meet and converse with 1,000 people in a week. Even with less than a minute's conversation with a man, he could sum up the worth of the individual. It was chiefly instinct and I have never seen it go wrong. There are occasions when he has not hesitated to let his instinct speak, and reveal a definite liking or dislike of a person he has met only for a minute. Yet he always stripped the sycophant or unmasked the charlatan. A King who meets 1,000 people a week has to come to a quick decision.

He is not an easy, indifferent man to work for. There is in King Edward a desire for interesting himself in detail. He does not lounge or play up to the eleventh hour of some public ceremonial, and then stretch out a languid hand for a speech that he has not read. On the contrary, that speech has been read again and again, amended, and certain phrases of his own inserted.

Restless Gestures

Because of his own attention to detail and careful preparation he is impatient of inefficiency. Notice his restlessness when listening to a speech of meaningless phrases, possibly of aldermanic adulation. The King's own staff know those jerky gestures. They are an indication of the man who wishes to get on with his job.

That is why Sir Godfrey Thomas, Private Secretary to King Edward, is considered to hold the most important and yet most difficult job in the little Cabinet of King Edward. Once, when dining with him, I ventured to suggest that his position was not entirely an enviable one.

"On the contrary," he replied quickly, "it is not only exciting but enjoyable."

And everything that Sir Godfrey Thomas does, is performed quickly and efficiently. The fact that he was dining with me in the midst of a busy official tour, arduous enough to have sent two other officials to sick-beds, proved that he could find time to accept hospitality. I only know that when he left me at 10 o'clock in the evening, it was with the object of spending another three hours with State papers and correspondence.

New Secretary

It is already understood that Lord Wigram, who was King George's Private Secretary, wishes to retire. It seems almost certain that Sir Godfrey Thomas will take his place at Buckingham Palace, although the name of Major Alexander Harding has been mentioned. In this respect, King Edward will be following a

DIAMOND GOSSIP

The Japanese are fielding their usual team and will start with Mikuni pitching. This player did very well against the Chinese recently. He then struck out 6 and walked 3. The Canadians will find him troublesome as his tricky balk, if not properly connected, are generally hit in the field.

Yasuda will be catching and his form this season has stamped him as one of the outstanding players in Hong Kong. His accurate deliveries to second base will probably catch many players napping. Takeda, last year's catcher, will be at first base, where he is very safe, while he is also one of the hitters of the team. In these three players the Japanese have the nucleus of a strong team. Amasaki, short stop, Kawamura, 2nd base, and Maruyama, at third, complete the infield. The fielders will be changed as required during the game.

The lack of a really good pitcher is greatly felt by the Canadians. Muir was tried out in a friendly game recently, but proved very expensive. Alltree is about the best they have. His deliveries, though not fast, are varied and with good backing in the field, he should do well, though he may not be able to strike very many out. It may be possible that Divett may be tried and it will be interesting to see how he will shape following his cricket experience.

The tentative line-up of the Canadian team is Walker catching, and Alltree pitching, and I feel sure that this is the best battery they can start with—these two have played together for over a season and understand each other. Muir has been shifted from short stop to second base, while Goldstein will fill the important position. Smedley, one of the safest players in the team, will be in his usual position at third base. The fielders will be chosen from Mueller, George, Divett and Oliver.

Volunteers Uncertain

As the result of having many players of the same class and standard, the Volunteers do not yet know what their line-up will be. Pereira and Bowen are the two pitchers. The former is a good start pitcher, but he cannot last more than four innings. Bowen, a left-hander is very valuable with his natural in-curves, while he is a good hitter. D. Leonard, the captain and the only player who has had any baseball experience, will be at short-stop. First base is a toss up between V. Costa and A. M. Aoms. Costa's height and reach are his greatest assets, but Abbas is faster with the ball in play.

Beltrao, who has improved beyond recognition, is now being tried at second base, where he has shown up well—he will probably be kept in that position. The third base will fall to Husain. The outfielders will be chosen from N. Leonard, De Sa, A. K. Omar, Delgado, Barros, Baleros and Hassan. The last named is a very safe fielder and in practice has brought off several spectacular catches.

Reserve Catcher

A. C. Soares is another player who is coming on well, and he has been earmarked as reserve catcher to Wing Lee. Not a hard hitter he is a good baseman. Eastern have not really had an opportunity of trying their team out, but from the 18 players available they should be able to get together a good side after a few games. A. M. Omar, who had previously signified his intention

TENNIS STAR WINS NEW U.S. TITLE

BEST DRESSED WOMEN OF AMERICA

Helen Wills Moody As One Of First Eight

New York.—The eight best-dressed women in America representative of various professions and occupations were chosen recently in the annual poll conducted by the Fashion Academy and its director, Emil Alvin Hartman.

The women include Miss Kay Francis, Princess Ketto Mikeldze, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, Miss Jane Pickens, Miss Sheila Barrett, Mrs. James J. Farley, Miss Helen Gleason and Miss Ilika Chasse.

Women selected were chosen from the motion picture industry, society, sports, radio, night-club life, public life, music and the stage. The winners will receive the Fashion Academy medals.

All types, budgets and varieties of apparel were represented in this year's selection. The qualifications included style, individual personality, charm and the ability to wear clothes.

Princess Mikeldze, leader of society group, prefers simplicity. She is opposed to tailored masculine suits and prefers a marked feminine quality in her clothes.

Miss Barrett, the night-club girl, prefers tailored mannish clothes, going in for tweeds and rich colour contrasts.

LATEST "BEAUTY QUEEN"

"Miss Sahara" is the latest beauty queen. She was elected at the Algiers Fair, and was dressed in rich silks and embroideries with a long white veil over her head, heavy necklaces hung round her neck, armlets on both forearms, and beautiful rings on every finger.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody (above), the tennis champion, has been adjudged one of the eight best-dressed women of America.

ADMIRAL PREDICTS HIS TIME LIMIT

"I Shall Be Dead In Nine Years"

When Admiral Sir Reginald Bacon presented nine-years' service medals to special constables at a recent sitting of the Remsey (Hampshire) County Bench, he said that he hoped they would receive, in another nine years' time, bars for their medals from someone else.

The clerk of the magistrates, Mr. Montague Chandler, asked why he thought there would be another Chairman of the Bench next time.

"The reason is very simple," replied Sir Reginald. "It is because 'I shall be dead. If that were not distributing the bars for the medals to these worthy men.'"

Sir Reginald Bacon is 73.

Hypnotic "Subject" Who Obeyed Too Thoroughly

Budapest.—A hypnotist, giving a demonstration was stabbed by a man he had "put to sleep" at Izsa (Hungary).

In his performance the hypnotist appealed to the audience for a volunteer whom he might hypnotise.

A young farmer, Karoly Szani, accepted the invitation and was soon in a trance.

"Here is a knife. Take it," commanded the hypnotist. "Stand up, here comes one of of playing for them, has now decided that baseball interferes with his bowls.

As far as fielding is concerned Eastern have no fears. They have no less than six Indian Recreation Club cricketers in the team, among whom are A. K. Ismail, A. K. Kitchell, and A. R. Abbas. George Lenz is a good youngster, while Tong Kwan, the South China footballer, played for South China before and knows the game.

Eastern are entering the League for the sole purpose of obtaining baseball games which would be otherwise difficult if they only tried to arrange friendly games, and it is the intention of the organisers to give as many youngsters a chance of a game and thus be able to build up a useful team for two or three years ahead.

The following are the probable teams:—

Canadians:—Walker (c.), Alltree (p.), Pearce (1st b.), Muir (2nd b.), Smedley (3rd b.), Goldstein (s.s.), Mueller (r.f.), Divett (c.f.), and George or Oliver (l.f.).

Volunteers:—Wing Lee (c.), Pereira and Bowen (p.), Costa or Abbas (1st b.), Beltrao (2nd b.), Husain (3rd b.), D. Leonard (s.s.), Hassan, A. K. Omar, De Sa, N. Leonard, Delgado and Barros (fielders).

Japanese:—Mikuni (p.), Yasuda (c.), Takeda (1st b.), Kawamura (2nd b.), Amasaki (s.s.), Maruyama (3rd b.), Nakamoto (r.f.), Yajima (c.f.), and Yamasaki (l.f.).

Eastern:—To be chosen from the following:—C. L. Lee, K. Ram, Wai-tuk, G. Lenz, Ip Bank-ray, A. K. Ismail, O. J. Arcelli, A. E. Kitchell, A. R. Abbas, S. Hassan, E. Woo, Tong Kwan, Chau Yue-tin, and Leung In-chan.

AMERICA MUST PAY MORE FOR BRITISH FILMS

Rental Returns From U.S. Insufficient

WILL NOT BE SHOWN UNLESS BETTER PRICES GIVEN

Hollywood. Britain is about to launch her biggest drive for film prestige in the American market.

Hollywood officials were told this in a strong speech by Mr. Jeffrey Bernard, general manager of the Gaumont-British Distributors, London, who recently attended conferences in the film city.

"In future, America must pay a fair price for our films; otherwise they simply won't be shown," he said.

As an instance of the poor returns received from United States exhibitors Mr. Bernard quoted the case of "The 39 Steps"—the season's most popular British picture shown in America.

"In 2,000 theatres in England that film brought in a revenue of nearly £150,000, while from 4,000 American theatres we scarcely derived £50,000," he claimed.

"KING'S ENGLISH"

American "A" Used By King Edward

There is a new note in "the King's English" nowadays, and it is a very realistic one, in the opinion of Dr. W. Cabell Greet of Barnard College, U.S.A.

"When Edward VIII pronounced 'broadcast' with the American 'a,' (which is also the north-country pronunciation of the 'a' in England), there was a stir," Dr. Greet said, "and there were those who said it was a slip of the tongue."

"Well, if the royal tongue slipped, it was in a democratic direction. For King Edward's pronunciation has about it a truly imperial quality."

"With radio offering kings the opportunity to become again the personal leaders of their people," said Dr. Greet, "it is important that the voice on the air should not speak a class dialect."

"We are becoming more and more conscious of pronunciation," he said. "We travel more; we listen to the radio; we go to the talkies."

"This makes for more uniformity. What eventually will be the standard, no one knows. But that standard will not be based on 'elegance'; it will be determined in the interests of intelligibility."

Battleship Becomes Boys' Training Ship

The Ramillies, one of the Fleet's older battleships of the Royal Sovereign class, first commissioned in 1917, is now to be used as a training ship for boys.

Recently, the Ramillies has been more or less out of service because of the shortage of men, and has been lying at Sheerness manned by a nucleus crew. Once she is recommissioned and put to her new service, however, she will actually be more ready for active employment than at present. She will once more be fully fitted out, and in case of need the boys under training can be quickly dispersed, and her crew brought up to full complement.

There is no intention of "demilitarising" the Ramillies as was done with the Iron Duke, Jellicoe's former flagship at Jutland. The Iron Duke was so dealt with on becoming over age under the terms of the Washington Treaty, but instead of being scrapped, as was usual with over-age ships, was converted to a boys' training ship.

The Royal Sovereign, the type ship of the class to which the Ramillies belongs, was also paid off to reduced complement some time ago, and used for training boys. She also will be available for active service at need.

To-day's Complete Short Story

Dangerous But Passable

By Dorothy Marie Davis

"All right, all right," Roger Travers yielded, but added severely, "You can come, daughter, if you let all my engineers alone."

"All right, all right," Roger Travers yielded, but added severely, "You can come, daughter, if you let all my engineers alone."

So Daphne Travers, otherwise known as Dippy, packed her Paris frocks and what-nots and turned the chromium nose of her blue roadster northward along the Sierra Nevada.

Old man Gray had just closed the control gate on the Kill Cattle detour when Daphne came. Gray waved after the young flagman, who accompanied the last car allowed through the control each trip, and was fusing with the padlock which held the flimsy lattice gate when Daphne braked the blue roadster before his tent.

"Please," she called, waving her smile on his squint, "will you open the gate for me?"

"No, ma'am, I won't," said the old man. He pointed to a large sign obscuring the glory of cloud-plumed Mount Dana and recited in melancholy sing-song: "State highway under construction. Kill Cattle Canyon detour, 22 miles under control. Northbound cars leave only on even hours. Gate closed at quarter hour." He growled in conclusion, "It's 10.15."

TO-MORROW'S STORY

To-morrow's story will be "The Policeman's Tie-Pin," by John Rickards.

Dippy bit her lip and contrived to face him again with undiminished radiance. "Please, I'm Roger Travers' daughter and I only want to go as far as the construction camp."

Old man Gray blinked and looked forward and leaned against her car. "Well now, Miss Travers, I'd like to do something for you, but a control is a control. Sorry. It's a bad road; one-way, curves, no turn-outs, precipitous. We don't take chances. Next control north at 12 o'clock."

"But that's idiotic," snapped Dippy. "You certainly don't expect me to sit in the sun for two hours just to drive five minutes or so."

"Pull over under them pines there," suggested old Gray. "Or you might walk it in 15 or 20 minutes. It's only two miles down hill."

Dippy eyed the frail gate and seemed resigned. She started the engine. Gray stepped back, grinning apologetically. But the roadster did not back toward the pines. It shot forward, straight into the gate. Crashing, splintering, wrenching... it was through in a second.

"Of course," thought Dippy. But she wasn't one to sit two blessed hours for a two-mile spin. She was smiling archly as she whirled into the dusty gap between tents and weathered clapboard buildings which was the camp. Victory, especially when dangerously won, delighted Dippy.

She expected to confess the whole escapade to her father at once. "Rodge, dear, I did the awfulest thing..." But his office was closed. He was out... vaguely, somewhere. He did not come till she had unpacked, showered, dressed, re-dressed, studied a wall map and become thoroughly disillusioned concerning construction camps.

One might expect men in engineering camps, she had reasoned. So far there were two Mexicans chopping stove-wood and an excitable Filipino cook who seemed to fall apart at the joints when spoken to. Of course, there was also a handful of Rodge's staff...

There is no intention of "demilitarising" the Ramillies as was done with the Iron Duke, Jellicoe's former flagship at Jutland. The Iron Duke was so dealt with on becoming over age under the terms of the Washington Treaty, but instead of being scrapped, as was usual with over-age ships, was converted to a boys' training ship.

The Royal Sovereign, the type ship of the class to which the Ramillies belongs, was also paid off to reduced complement some time ago, and used for training boys. She also will be available for active service at need.

She saw in a second that it was in no mood to hear about the control gate. "Rodge, dear," purred Dippy, "I'm driving up to this Conifer place." And she sallied forth to find adventure in her twinkling roadster.

Inching along, the new highway crept northward through the Sierra Nevada. At Kill Cattle Canyon the new grading curled over the backbone of the ridge above until only a deep gorge separated it from Lava Mountain. There a monstrous fill would leap the gulf, consuming in six graceful miles a former tortuous 22.

The old road and present detour plunged downward into Kill Cattle Canyon, zigzagged a short space and hurried on beside Kill Cattle Creek in a mad race only to meet the bulk of Lava Mountain. There road and river separated, the former twisting and scrambling over the mountain's rock-ribbed side.

Dippy whirled the roadster down at a great rate. The wind whirled her curls back in a fringe of gold over the blue cap. "Too bad," she thought as the narrow way levelled out in the gold and green of an aspen grove. "Too bad they had to put their road up there and miss all this. I wonder why?"

Thirty... thirty-five... the speedometer rocketed. Dippy just had time to read the big wooden sign, "Go slow. Narrow. Curves. Dangerous but Passable." The car roared out on the cliff shelf barely above churning water.

"Fast enough," decided Dippy, skillfully coming out of a skid on a hairpin turn. Then—

The individuals are not playing for a side, and so there is no great urge to win.

They are playing merely for self-glorification, and there are occasions when this egotistical attitude is not good for the side.

The only other trial match of use is the Gentlemen v Players' match of the old style. That used to be the severest trial for a youngster outside an actual Test Match, and those in which I played before the war were of far more value than any "Test" trial in which I ever took part.

Chance For Youth. Young English cricketers never had such a chance for fame as they have to-day.

I can remember the time when an England XI automatically picked themselves, while there were always another half-a-dozen just as good waiting in case anyone dropped out.

Young men just down from the Varsity walked into the side. Things are far different now. Don't think for a moment that I am unduly pessimistic.

We are going through a lean time and shall emerge from it as strong as ever we were, though I must admit it is going to be a very difficult job in Australia next winter.

However, I am sure there will come a time when we shall be able to face them again with confidence, and whack them.

If we take a line through recent form—South Africa beat us last summer, and Australia then proceeded to beat South Africa easily—we have no earthly chance.

Happily, in sport things don't work out that way. You see upsets in form in the football season every week. Early in the last soccer season Arsenal beat Chelsea, Grimsby beat Arsenal, and then Chelsea beat Grimsby!

"Machines in the Field." There was some excuse for the defeat of South Africa on their own wickets.

Bell and Vincent did not play, and there was the lamentable death of Cameron, which we all felt very deeply. Meanwhile, the rest were unable to reproduce their England form.

Bill Ferguson, who was scoring in South Africa and is now scorer and baggage expert to the Indian team here, told me, "The Australians were extra-good, and like machines in the field."

This means they snapped up all their catches; and that is what we shall have to do next winter. England's batting for Australia is not worrying me a great deal. We should be able to select batsmen who can score heaps of runs. It is the bowling that raises doubts.

In this respect there are two players I shall follow with great

CIVIL SERVICE PROVE TOO GOOD FOR 'VARSITY'

The "Varsity" were unable to turn out their best team as they have just completed their examinations, but they, nevertheless, gave a promising display and should in time become a formidable combination.

Shute and Todd were a forceful pair and experienced little difficulty in outpacing their opponents, the former cleverly varying the length of his drives to great advantage.

Agafuroff's height and speedy recoveries are his main assets, while Bendall's steadiness greatly aided their success.

Bradley and Pengelly were a hard-hitting pair and very rarely allowed anything to pass them. Bradley was driving well on both hands and made the openings for Pengelly, whose "kills" at the net and from the middle of the court were a delight to watch.

Jack Hsu and S. Ling were the pick of the "Varsity" side, but being a new partnership, they failed to settle down comfortably, while the same applied to the two other pairings.

FILIPINO BOXERS TO FIGHT HERE

Olympic Team At Lee Theatre

Local boxing enthusiasts will be interested to learn that the Filipino Olympic boxing team, who will be passing through the Colony on their way to Berlin early next week, will be seen in action against local amateurs.

Mr. S. M. Fernandez the local physical culturist has promoted the fights and arrangements have been completed for an exhibition to be given at the Lee Theatre, on the night of June 1 between the Philippine team stars and local amateurs.

The boxers, Jose Padilla, jun. (lightweight), Simplicio de Castro (welterweight), Felipe Gabico (featherweight), Oscar de Larrazabal (bantamweight) and Felipe K. Nunag (flyweight), will arrive from Manila aboard the President Taft.

interest this summer.

Read And Copson

One is H. D. Read, the Essex amateur, who, as you all know, has been on the recent Australasia tour. The other is Copson, of Derbyshire, who broke down last summer.

Possibly these may turn out to be the two fast bowlers for whom we have been looking.

There is another point I think we should be considering; the selection of left-hand batsmen. I should include as many as possible for Australia. There are very few bowlers who can bowl as well to left-handers as to right-handers. This is one of the curiosities of cricket.

Grimmett No Bogy Man

Grimmett did well in South Africa and is still going strong, but our players must not make a bogey-man of him.

He is not quite the force in Australia that he is over here. The chief trouble will come from that big fellow, "Bill" O'Reilly, and left-handers would be an excellent foil to his now "amorous" leg-trap.

TRIUMPH FOR AGA KHAN

First Two In The Derby

GORDON RICHARDS OUT OF LUCK

London, Yesterday. The result of the Derby was as follows:—

1. H. H. the Aga Khan's Mahmoud, 100 to 8 (Smirke), trained by Frank Butters.

2. H. H. the Aga Khan's Taj Akbar, 6 to 1 (Gordon Richards), trained by Frank Butters.

3. Mrs. Shand's Thankerton, 33 to 1 (T. Burns), trained by G. Armstrong.

There were 22 starters. Mahmoud won by three lengths, there being three-quarters of a length between the second and third horses.

On settling down Carioca went into the lead, followed by Barry Star, Pay Up, Mid Stream, Abjer, Couvert, Magnet, Noble King, with Mendicant Friar last from the post.

At the half mile Carioca still led, with Mid Stream, Pay Up, Magnet, Abjer and Boswell in close attendance, and Squadron Castle last.

Coming down the hill Thankerton led from Bali Hissar, Pay Up, and Boswell.

Entering the straight Thankerton was three lengths clear, but below the distance Mahmoud challenged and went into the lead, when Thankerton weakened.

GALLANT EFFORT
Taj Akbar made a gallant effort to catch his stable companion, but Mahmoud held on to his lead to win easily, and to give the Aga Khan his third Derby.

Pay Up, who started favourite at 5 to 1, was fourth. His Grace was fifth and Couvert last.

The time was 2 mins. 33 4-5 secs., which beat Hyperion's and Windsor Lad's record times of 2 mins. 34 secs.

Mahmoud is the first grey to win since Takale in 1912, and is only the third grey ever to win.

The Aga Khan won last year with Bahram.

ALSO RAN

The other starters in the race were:—

Squadron Castle (Diner), Pay Up (Dick), Mendicant Friar (Weston), Barry Star (Marshall), Couvert (Beary), Abjer (Elliott), Noble King (Perryman), His Grace (Harry Wragg), Walvis Bay (Lowrey), Magnet (Carslake), Raeburn (Sirett), Carioca (Arthur Wragg), Spinalot (J. Ellis), Midstream (Fox), Fearless Fox (E. Smith), Belachol (Stev. Donohue), Boswell (Pat Beasley).—Reuter.

PAY UP FOURTH
London: Lord Astor's Pay Up, (at 5 to 1) was fourth. It was the Aga Khan's third Derby victory and his second in succession.

AUSTRALIA LISTENS-IN

London: Descriptions of the sailing of the Queen Mary and of the Derby were broadcast at Home and on Empire transmissions. Two seconds after the Derby winner had passed the post the result had been transmitted by Cables and Wireless Limited to New York, Buenos Aires and Cape Town. It was known in Australia within six seconds.—British Wireless Service.

EARLY REPORTS

London, earlier: Derby Day dawned dully, rain threatening to fall, but at least half a million people will throng the famous Epsom Downs to watch the Blue Riband of the British Turf, the winner of which this year will receive £9,240 while the second and third will receive £1,180 and £590 respectively.

An innovation this year will be the presence of the new stipendiary stewards along the course, one of whom will be present at the start, another at Tattenham Corner and the third near the finish to see that the race is run fairly.

It is the general opinion that Taj Akbar will give Gordon Richards his first winning ride in the Derby, but from the amazing amount of last-minute money for Boswell, it is evident that many are confident that the American-owned horse will win, and it will not at all be improbable that he will start favourite.—Reuter.

THE BASEBALL LEAGUE

RULES FOR THE SEASON

REGISTRATION OF PLAYERS

The Hong Kong Baseball Association has laid down the following rules in connection with the current season's baseball League for the observance of all Managers of their respective teams.

Each manager is required to submit to the Association a list of names of players, not exceeding twenty in number for registration.

New players whose names do not appear on the original registration list may play providing:—

(1) Their names are reported to the Association 48 hours before the game commences, and

(2) Approval of the majority of the League managers is obtained. Otherwise players cannot appear in any games until one week has elapsed after due registration has been made.

During the game, the chief umpire's decision will be final. Protests against decisions may be made by notification to the Association who will then appoint an outside arbiter to render a final opinion against which no further appeal can be made.

There will be no free passes given from first to second in cases of overthrows at first. Runners must make their bases.

The official league ball this season will be the Mizuno, officially supplied by the Association. Each team is required to furnish two new balls for the game to the chief umpire. After the game, the balls revert to the possession of the winning team.

All questions regarding baseball plays will be checked according to rules and regulations as expressed down in D. and M. Official Rules, 1930.

Vancouver's Golden Jubilee

Fifty years ago the first transcontinental Canadian Pacific Railway train from Montreal reached the Pacific Coast. This summer Vancouver, now the Gateway to the Orient and port for ships of the entire world, will celebrate the Golden Jubilee of its founding as the western terminal of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Commencing July 1 with Dominion and International Good Will Week, the programme concludes with the Canada Pacific Exhibition on September 7, and includes land and water sports, several weeks of grand pageantry, musical attractions, visit of American warships, a two-day air show with a solo flight across Canada, planned as the highlight, floral decorations, visit of 15,000 Shriners in mid-July, traditional pageantry of an Alderhot tattoo, frontier week, street dancing and costume balls, and historical exhibits arranged to illustrate Vancouver's steady progress during the first half century of its existence.

Even before the beginning of the celebration proper, many colorful events will be given recognition, including Empire Day and horticulture show in June; 12-14; schools' programme in June; 13-14; golf tournament, King's birthday, and religious dedicatory services.

One of the highlights of Vancouver's celebration will be the re-enacting of the arrival of the first Canadian Pacific train almost half a century ago. The venerable old engine, first to the coast, will be run again, with its original pilot, W. H. Evans, at the throttle. Some of the old-timers who saw the first train arrive will also be present for the ceremony. The Canadian Pacific Railway will run tours at low cost from Eastern Canada to the Pacific Coast for the event, with stop-over privileges at Banff, Jasper, and other famous Rocky Mountain resorts.

Pictures show the old and the new Vancouver, and Sir William Van Horne, second president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who chose the name of Vancouver in 1874 for the western terminus of the first transcontinental railway line.

Double Finesse Favoured

Honeymoon Eve (Mr. Harris) is also in this race, with only 144 lbs. to look after (5 lbs. allowance for Novice jockey), and as it came third in the Mount Parker Handicap over 1¼ miles at the Fourth Extra Race Meeting, after having been left at the start, it should command some support! Oak Bay (Mr. Black) came second to Royal (Mr. Black) at the previous meeting over six furlongs, but will probably find the longer distance a handicap to its sprinting abilities. Having been accustomed to carrying heavy weights in its previous outings, Soldier of Britain (Mr. Pih) has now come down to only 148 lbs. This pony has evidently lost its former brilliance, but in view of the light burden, it will not surprise many to find Soldier of Britain well in the running for premier honours on Saturday.

Taking all the factors into consideration, I am inclined to believe that Royal Scot will win, with King's Warden second and Gladiator and Soldier of Britain fighting it out for the minor position.

Warwick Farm Handicap—

Six Furlongs

Confined to "A" Class Australian ponies, this race will be fought out at a terrific pace, as there are several demon speedsters among the entries. At the previous meeting Double Finesse (Mr. Pih) assumed a commanding lead of several lengths in the Brisbane Spring Handicap over 1¼ miles. As the distance on Saturday will be over six furlongs, this pony has a glorious opportunity of winning its first race. It will, however, be strongly challenged by Bobniak Star (Mr. Ip Kui Ying), the holder of the record over this distance. Derby Day, I understand, will be taken out by the Tientsin jockey, Mr. S. C. Liang, and Mr. B. A. Proulx will be riding Shooting Star. Mr. W. H. S. Davis has the choice of either Australian Boy or Electron, and whichever he selects should be prominent at the finish.

Shatin Handicap (First Section)—

1 Mile And 155 Yards

This will be an interesting race for "D" Class China ponies. Tyne, Wadebridge and Young Chap, recently demoted from "C" Class, have been allotted top weights, and it is doubtful whether any of them will be prominent. Foxbridge (Mr. Pih) had been quietly tipped to win at previous meetings, and in view of its light weight (140 lbs.) it may yet fulfil expectations on Saturday. I was rather impressed by the fine appearance of Daylight Eve at the last meeting, and with Mr. Black on top, I think it has a good chance of winning.

Mr. Harris will be riding Lemberg, and with no form to serve as a guide, nothing much can be said about this pony, but as it has been consistently trained by Dr. Reidy, it should not be entirely overlooked.

This race should, however, be contested between Plain View (Mr. S. Y. Liang), Daylight Eve and Seventeenth of September (Mr. N. Deitz). Both Plain View and Seventeenth of September ran very well at the previous meeting.

Customs Handicap (First Section)—

Five Furlongs

The draw for position and the ability to get off quickly at the start will prove important factors in this race confined to "C" Class China ponies. Dawn Star (Mr. Ip Kui Ying), with two previous successive wins to its credit, is expected to annex this event, with Pontiac Bay (Mr. Choy Wing Chiu), in spite of its heavy burden coming in second. For the third position I fancy King's Bounty (Mr. Pih). Mayflower (Mr. F. F. Li) and Boolat Bay (Mr. Black) will also figure prominently at the finish.

Victoria Park Handicap—

1¼ Miles

This will be a grand race for "B" Class Australian ponies, and will provide punters with the difficult task of selecting the winner, this being the first leg of the "Daily Double". In view of the longer distance, I am inclined to believe that Night Star, with the assistance of Mr. B. A. Proulx, should account for this race. Given a good jockey, Centre Court looks dangerous, but I think that those comfortable rooms, a racing heart (Mr. Harris), Halcyon (Mr. Black) will probably find the distance a shade too long, but Snowy River (Mr. P. P.

Botelho) should not be overlooked in the event of a muddy track.

Lead Mine Handicap—1 Mile And 155 Yards

Quite the best finish of the day should be witnessed in this race for "B" Class China ponies. The Lan Stable has three representatives in Bright View (Mr. W. H. S. Davis), Jungle Jim (Mr. W. H. Choy) and Soldier of China (Mr. S. Y. Liang). I, however, strongly fancy King's Justice (Mr. Proulx) as the distance is to its liking. Sadko (Mr. P. P. Botelho) should fill second place, with King's Lead (Mr. G. U. da Roza) third.

But what about Cyclamen Bay with only 135 lbs. to look after? For those who are prepared to take the risk, a bet each way may prove a profitable investment. In view of the fact that this pony has been used to running among the stalwarts in "A" Class, and is now very lightly treated.

Customs Handicap (Second Section)—Five Furlongs

The second leg of the "Daily Double" will be a difficult problem, as there are several likely looking winners in this race. What a Chance (Mr. S. C. Liang), by virtue of its recent win over six furlongs, will no doubt be in big demand, but I rather prefer King's Sceptre (Mr. G. U. da Roza), which is a steadily improving pony and one quite capable of accounting for this race. Laughing Girl (Mr. Deitz) is also dangerous in view of the short distance, but for those who are looking for an outsider I recommend bearing Flybynight (Mr. Harris) in mind.

Having been promoted to "C" Class, Ythan (Mr. Botelho) will have an opportunity of showing its merits among better company, and, as this pony has improved a great deal, there will be quite a few who will still have confidence in its ability to win.

Shatin Handicap (Second Section)—

1 Mile And 155 Yards

It is no doubt within the recollection of those who were present at the last meeting that West Parade (Mr. Black) ran exceptionally well, being beaten by only half a length, will be ridden by Novice jockeys. With Sylvandale (Mr. Davis), Ocean View (Mr. W. H. Choy) third. In my recent notes I advocated keeping these two ponies running away with this race, and in mind, and whilst I am a bit doubtful about the rider with the distance a little too long, I feel the Novice Class. Under Mr. confident that West Parade should Harris, Cassius, which ran very have no difficulty in winning, well at the previous meeting, Double Chance (Mr. N. Deitz) dis-appointed badly in the same race, with Shamrock (Mr. W. C. Choy) and will be given another opportunity of retrieving itself. Valley For (Mr. S. Y. Liang) and Hum-which was adjourned on Tuesday night owing to darkness, was completed yesterday, when the latter pair won by two shots.

On the Civil Service green two Police pairs were featured in a "Derby" encounter, Riddell and Orem beating Booker and Ellis by 3 shots, while rain interfered with the match between W. A. Walker and H. H. Rose, and F. Cheesman and J. C. Gill of the Kowloon Bowling Green Club at Kowloon Docks when the former were leading by a margin of nine shots.

Big Win

The Omar brothers, U.M. and A.M. of Craigengower, secured a convincing win over E. J. Edwards and B. E. Maughan, of the Yacht Club, the latter retiring at the 19th end when the score read 35 to 71. There was another match of a similar nature at the Football Club, where K. C. Hamilton and J. G. Meyer, of the Kowloon Bowling Green Club beat J. F. Lunny and J. K. Sloan, of the H. K. Electric, after the 17th head, the latter retiring with a score of 28 to 9 against them.

In the two remaining games yesterday W. Weir and T. Grimes beat H. F. Stoneham and M. J. Henderson by two shots at the L.R.C., while at the Football Club L. C. R. Souza and R. F. Luz, of Craigengower, just beat R. H. E. Marks and W. E. Hollands, of the Police by two shots.

ber (Mr. H. C. Pih) should also be prominent.

Stonemasons Plate—Half A Mile

The last race on Saturday will be a sprint event of half mile for subscription griffins of this season that have not won a race, and should not find any difficulty in vocation keeping these two ponies running away with this race, and in mind, and whilst I am a bit doubtful about the rider with the distance a little too long, I feel the Novice Class. Under Mr. confident that West Parade should Harris, Cassius, which ran very have no difficulty in winning, well at the previous meeting, Double Chance (Mr. N. Deitz) dis-appointed badly in the same race, with Shamrock (Mr. W. C. Choy) and will be given another opportunity of retrieving itself. Valley For (Mr. S. Y. Liang) and Hum-

Men Behind The King

precedent set by both his father and grandfather. Lord Knollys remained as King Edward VII's Private Secretary after he came to the throne. So, too, did Lord Stamfordham in the case of King George. There was a time when Lord Knollys was spoken of as "the most important man in England." The post of Private Secretary to the King has by no means diminished in importance.

You may occasionally glimpse the lean and saturnine Sir Godfrey Thomas striding through Berkeley Square on his way to St. James's Palace. He is just about the same age as King Edward, Welsh, tenth baronet and with a shy, engaging manner which does not disguise a direct mind. Ask him a direct question in turn, and the tactful diplomatist appears. The lids drop over his black eyes, and the perfect, quiet retort comes from his mouth.

Never In Vain

I have heard him in his comfortable furnished quarters at St. James's Palace. He receives you slightly bad eyesight proved a handicap, so he went into the Office Official. You have probably torn him away from a pile of documents or some important dictation. Yet in his quiet, affable greeting there is not the slightest suggestion that you post of Foreign Secretary. Sir Godfrey Thomas was an attaché have interrupted a busy man on the busy day. There is not even the sound of a typewriter clicking in his comfortable rooms. He dictates a chair, suggests a cigarette or tea, and patiently listens to what may be your trivial business.

But I have never gone to him in vain. And always he has been helpful. I have watched him, calm and untroubled, patiently putting a series of upsets right during a time of ceremonial calamities. I have seen him deluged with thousands of letters addressed to one of them has had his attention and received a tactful reply.

Scotching Rumours

Sir Godfrey Thomas has to tackle jobs that would appal the ordinary man. I often imagine that half his time is spent denying absurd rumours about King Edward. It is he who quietly and considerably begs Press photographers not to let certain pictures appear, or asks journalists not to publish certain flamboyant statements. And such is the manner in which he performs these distasteful tasks, that never once has he appealed in vain.

It is, I would emphasise, the born diplomat in him. Originally, Sir Godfrey Thomas was intended for the artillery. But his slightly bad eyesight proved a handicap, so he went into the Diplomatic Service.

Here he soon proved himself of that quick, shrewd mental calibre that has raised a collection of documents or some important dictation. Yet in his quiet, affable greeting there is not the slightest suggestion that you post of Foreign Secretary. Sir Godfrey Thomas was an attaché have interrupted a busy man on the busy day. There is not even the sound of a typewriter clicking in his comfortable rooms. He dictates a chair, suggests a cigarette or tea, and patiently listens to what may be your trivial business.

"LITTLE AMERICA"—QUEEN'S THEATRE

That epoch-making polar trip, starring Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his loyal band of 56 followers, has been recorded for all time in Paramount's "Little America," an actual scene by scene account of the intrepid explorer's second Antarctic Expedition as taken by two cameramen who accompanied the expedition.

Every thrilling event of this hazardous undertaking in this truth-is-stranger-than-fiction production, crammed with suspense, drama and romance in every foot of film, is shown. Isolating themselves of their own free will, filled with the spirit of adventure, this courageous expedition set out to conquer the frozen wastes of the South Pole, determined and ready to face any danger, every hardship.

The intimate everyday life of these men, who spent 18 months in an ice empire making valuable researches as they battled the elements, is vividly shown in the picture. This fearless group are shown at work, fighting through blizzards, roaring gales, unimaginable cold in a land of ice and snow. They are seen at play, finding relaxation through radio programmes in their underground city, and at their studies in their own University of Antarctica with the expedition's scientists acting as professors.

The film opens on board the ship Bear of Oakland as it fights its way through the icebergs and dangerous pack ice to the 70-foot high barrier to "Little America" exactly as they left it a few years before, when they made their first trip.

"CRIME AND PUNISHMENT"—KING'S AND ALHAMBRA THEATRES

In this Columbia production Edward Arnold plays the starring role, that of the Police Inspector. Peter Lorre is seen as Raskolnikov, the murderer.

Under the direction of Josef von Sternberg, who has innumerable hits to his credit, and who is generally considered one of Hollywood's outstanding directors, the film promises much in the way of entertainment.

The immortal story concerns itself with the causes and effects of the crime Raskolnikov commits. Having recently graduated from the University, a brilliant student with a penchant for analysing the criminal mind, Raskolnikov finds himself and his high ideals buffeted about. He is ragged, starving. His beloved sister is about to marry an obnoxious Government official just so that he, Raskolnikov, and his mother will have money.

Believing that, with his superior mentality, he can commit the perfect crime, he murders a wretched hag of a pawnbroker and robs her.

The remainder of the film shows why he fails to escape the long arm of the law, in the guise of the relentless yet gentle Police Inspector.

Marian Marsh, a young lady who has been making decided headway against the Hollywood tide, plays the leading feminine role. Others include Tala Birell, Robert Allen, Elisabeth Risdon, Douglas Drumbrille, Gene Lockhart and Mrs. Patrick Campbell.

"THE CASE OF THE CURIOUS BRIDE"—MAJESTIC THEATRE

Warren William again portrays Perry Mason, while Margaret Lindsay plays the part of the "curious bride." Claire Dodd continues as Mason's astute secretary-sweetheart.

The attorney-detective learns that the bride's first husband, supposed to have been dead for four years, is alive, and is attempting to blackmail her. Then the man is found dead with a stab wound through his heart. The wife's keys are found at his side and she is arrested for the murder.

Perry Mason, as the woman's attorney, discovers there are four other persons who had a motive for killing the blackmailer. One is the bride's second husband who is insanely jealous of her; a Dr. Haillass, who is genuinely in love with her; a chorus girl and her

Dippy stood up on the foot brake. The roadster teetered, choked and stopped. There was less than an inch between the bumpers of the head-on cars.

Another automobile was behind the first, and behind that still a third slid suddenly into sight. Then yet another auto appeared, and behind it another. And still another.

Horns clamoured. Voices rang excitedly over the noisy water. Men hurried forward. And still cars appeared, forming a disconcerting queue. Dippy's blood grew weak as water. She looked at her watch. A quarter till four. That darned control!

A dusty young man cut through the crowd. He brandished a red flag under Dippy's nose and yelled, "What are you doing?" Then the young man blinked and looked again.

"Don't you dare speak to me like that," snarled Dippy.

He ignored that but his eyes grew guarded with recognition. "I'm sorry, Miss Travers," he snapped, though his jaw line tightened and paled. "Control means control, a thing you have to understand. No more smashing gates. There's $500 fine for violating the control, and if you were the governor's daughter, you'll pay it."

He ordered the tourists to their cars. "Come ahead slowly. I'll back this bird cage off the road at the grove."

"Bird cage," gasped Dippy. "Move over." The flagman thrust her aside and slid behind the wheel. Dippy cringed into the far corner. He flung the soiled red bunting into her lap and began to back. Fifteen cars trundled slowly after them, eating dust.

"I'm sorry, Brett," whispered Dippy. "I couldn't stand not seeing you all summer."

"Be quiet," said the flagman. Dippy was quiet. Even when the front fenders shaved the aspens as they slipped off into the grove, she didn't speak. One by one the cars sprang past. The young man waved, the drivers honked. Then he turned and looked at Dippy from her curls to her heels. His eyes were cold and contemptuous.

"I thought," he said, "that you were through with me. I thought one engineer in your family was all you could stand. You said my pay wouldn't keep you in stockings."

The young man snorted. He turned the roadster and climbed toward camp.

"Stop. Let me out," screamed Dippy as the bearings shrieked on the first curve. For answer he trod on the accelerator. They raced into camp and stopped before Roger Travers' office. The young man was pale. Dippy was pale, too. She scrambled from the car and fled to her father, sobbing, "Rodge, oh Rodge."

Brett Chalmers swallowed hard and faced the Traverses scowl. "You ought to know, sir. She won't stop till she's made to. Miss Travers drove through the control gate this morning, and just now—"

"Daphne!" groaned Rodge.

"Gray wanted to mend the gate and not report it, sir. I knew there'd be trouble if we didn't. If she gets away with something once— you know... I mean—" brother, who are being bled for blackmail.

The cast includes Donald Woods, Winifred Shaw, Warren Hynes, Allen Jenkins, Barton MacLane and Olin Howland.

"THE THIRTEENTH GUEST"—ORIENTAL THEATRE

Borrowed from Warner Brothers for a leading role in the Monogram production, Lyle Talbot, well-known leading man, presents one of the finest performances of his sensational career in "The Thirteenth Guest," a mystery melodrama.

In "The Thirteenth Guest" he plays the outstanding role of the debonair private investigator whose clever solution of the plot furnishes the climax for one of the weirdest and most unusual murder mysteries of the year.

Starring Ginger Rogers, the cast also includes J. Farrell MacDonald, Frances Rich, Irene Rich's beautiful daughter, and Eddie Phillips. James Eagles, Erville Alderson, Robert Klein, Crawford Kent, Ethel Wales, Haillass, who is genuinely in love with her; a chorus girl and her

Hell, she's got to know she can't do what she wants just because she's your daughter."

Roger Travers stared at the young man, then he cleared his throat. "You're right. I'll see to it. Thank you, er... I don't seem to place you. You're..."

"Brett Chalmers, flagman," Brett turned abruptly and started for the hike to the control gate. His feet were heavy for his heart was in them. He did not know that Roger Travers' puzzled eyes clung to his retreating back, though he did half suspect Dippy's teary ones.

"That took courage... telling you off like that," said Travers to his daughter. "I'll have to promise that young man."

But promotion did not suit Dippy. Nine dull days later she cornered her father. "Rodge, where's that poor young man that used to wave the flag on the control?"

"Strikes me you drive to Conifer too much," Travers evaded.

"I wouldn't if there were something to amuse me close by," sighed Dippy. "Rodge, darling, you didn't fire that poor young man?"

Rodge wagged his head. "I've looked up his record. He's a good kid, and you let him alone. He's blasting."

"Blasting! But Rodge, that's dangerous!"

"Nonsense!"

"Should think you couldn't sleep nights," mourned Dippy.

"Come off it, Daphne. Oh, all right, all right. Heaven help him, where do you want him?"

"Rodge, such a way to act! It's just that I think he's a superb flagman, don't you? He explains things so nicely to people when he has to ride in their cars to the other end of the control to open the other gate. Very reliable. Very personable. In fact, quite an advertisement for the company, much more of one than he'll be when he's blown an arm or a leg off or some thing. Don't you think, Rodge?"

"Don't call me Rodge," shouted her father, and made a memorandum to the blasting superintendent. Dippy smiled and kissed his nose.

She was still smiling when she said "Hello" to the reinstated flagman. And though, five mornings later, she still said "Hello" as cheerily, her smile was slightly thinner.

Brett Chalmers had not melted in the proper spirit. Now he looked helplessly down the road. The gate must close. No other car was in sight. Cleverly Dippy contrived to be the last car every day on the early control.

She could take a lot of punishment. He had to hand it to her. This being the flag car every trip couldn't be very nice for her... swallowing dust, creeping miserably.

He hadn't helped her any either. It was bad enough to be taken off a man's job and thrust back into riding back and forth over the control as a signaller when the other-way traffic could begin.

"Hello," he grumbled thanklessly and accepted fate. He climbed into the blue roadster but clung virtuously to his own side, scowling straight ahead.

"Please, Brett," begged Dippy. "Don't be horrid again to-day. I've apologised and all. Can't we be friends?"

Brett sighed. "Why don't you carry the flag yourself? You don't need me."

At the north end of the sixth silent trip Dippy did not turn the car. Banked thunder clouds which had oppressed them all day were settling blacker and blacker. Dust was intolerable.

She rallied gamely. "End of line. Everybody out. I'm going to Conifer for a swim and some ice cream. I'll catch the 5 o'clock control. Wait for me."

Ice Cream! A swim! Wait for her? Oh, yeah? Brett swore under his breath as the dusty blue roadster swerved beyond sight. But when the 5 o'clock control was ready to close, after interminable centuries, he waited.

Then she came. Brett climbed in, as sultry and bad-tempered as the weather, stuffing the flag beneath his feet. Dippy was petulant and sweet beside him. There was challenge in the tilt of her lips as they started off.

"There's a carton of ice cream in the pocket... if it hasn't melted," she laughed as he clawed for it. It had not melted too much.

An explosion of thunder rocked the dark sky. It shook the gutted cliffs of Kill Cattle Canyon.

Through a haze where the sun still shone uncertainly they could see the straight lines of rain falling in a curtain on the far slopes of the mountain. Big drops splashed down on them. Red lightning ripped the black sky. The river lithered at their side. The icy downpour plastered their clothes to their bodies. Dippy laughed, lifting her face to the lightning, shouting back bluster for bluster at the thunder. Brett clenched his cold fingers and stared ahead tensely.

"In another second we'll be out of danger," he cried.

A jagged flame leaped down before them. Thunder bellowed and re-echoed deafeningly. They ground to a stop, the back wheels slewing dangerously.

Across the road lay a large aspen, smouldering, steaming, still shuddering from its fall. The old warning sign was broken. A remnant, crazily askew, shouted in mammoth letters, "Dangerous but Passable."

Dippy read it aloud, laughing. Brett smiled with Dippy, but his eyes were grave. His voice was reassuring, cool.

"Let's get out and hike. Leave the lights burning. They'll help." Dippy's eyes flashed past his strained serious face to the swollen river, scarcely two feet below the roadway.

She did not question or answer. She gave the roadster a little pat as she turned from it and put her hand into Brett's childishity. They turned from the road and started up the mountain side, less abrupt here in the aspen grove.

Suddenly there was a roar, an odd pulsing and vibration of the air and earth that was not thunder or echo or rain. "Climb!" sobbed Brett.

He flung himself forward beside Dippy and half dragged her to a tiny insecure ledge. They clung there. The roar was on them. It swirled around their feet, tearing to undermine the refuge. Cold wind rushed by.

Brett and Dippy shrank back and waited. His arms were tight around her, his back shielding her from rocks and rain, her heart beating madly so near his own.

Brett soothed her, tried to minimize the danger hardly past. "All that water has to go somewhere, you know. Old Gray's been worse the straight lines of rain fell all day. Said cloudbursts turned hell loose in this canyon. That's the way it got its name." He talked grandly, loudly, to steel her courage again. The spent storm drifted away into the northeast. The rain gradually lessened.

Then he kissed her. As Dippy said later, that was enough to make anyone think of something else. She probably would never have heard the horn at all, even Brett heard it and struggled to his feet. They were saved. Rescue had come.

It was three weeks later, in the surveyor's office at the camp. Being a young man of strong character Brett managed, almost, to keep his eyes on his figures when the screen door squeaked and Dippy came in. "Good morning, Miss Travers," he said. "Dippy to you," said Daphne a little wistfully. "Wouldn't you... wouldn't you like to call me something else, Brett?" She put her hand over his work. The young, recently-promoted surveyor dropped his pencil and took her hand.

"I'd call you dangerous," he whispered.

"But passable?"

"M-m-m-m. Well, I can't get over you."

"Brett, don't try," warned Dippy.

Roger Travers rose from his desk and stomped angrily out of the office, flinging back gruffly, "Lord, kiss her, Brett, kiss her. And after this pay more attention to signs."

BRITISH AMATEUR GOLF SERIES

Ex-Shanghai Boy Favoured

WALKER CUP PLAYERS FAIL

St. Andrew's, To-day. A strong northerly wind upset many players in the British Amateur Golf Championship yesterday. Cyril Tolley, holder in 1920 and 1929, and Jim Ferrier (Australia), the ex-Shanghai boy who is now favourite for the title, both being taken to the 19th in their Third Round encounters. Tolley beat S. B. Roberts, the ex-Walsh champion, while Ferrier eliminated K. V. Braddon (Buckinghamshire), after being actually three down at one period. Both, however, easily won their Fourth Round matches. Outstanding defeats in the Third Round included those of Eric Fiddian, Rex Hartley and Tony Torrance, all of whom are Walker Cup players.

JACK McLEAN OUT

The ex-English Native champion T. A. Bourn, who won the British title at Westward Ho in 1925, beat Robert Harris in the Fourth Round, but Jack McLean, the ex-Scottish champion and a Walker Cup player, was surprisingly beaten by Robert Sweeney, the Oxford University player, at the 20th. Alec Hill (Sandy Lodge) beat D. R. Tweedie, the British Walker Cup captain, by 4 and 3, while Roger Wethered, Hector Thomson, Arana, the Spanish champion, and Eustace Story were all successful. Story beating Leonard Crawley, the Essex cricketer, by one up. Thomson beat a fellow Scot in Mitchell by 3 and 2 after both had gone out in 32 to equal Bobby Jones's record. Thomson has now done 14 under fours for three rounds.—Reuter.

The holder for the past two years, W. Lawson Little, is not competing as he is now a professional.

KHO SIN-KIE WINS EARLIER PROMISE MAINTAINED

Paris, To-day.

In the Third Round of the French Lawn Tennis Singles Championship here yesterday, Kho Sin-kie, the Chinese Davis Cup player, beat Robert Murray (Canada) by scores of 6-2, 6-3, and 6-4 to qualify for the Fourth Round, where he will meet the Swiss contender, E. Maneff, to-day.

Kho confirmed the favourable impression he created in his match against Lesueur, and has completely recovered the form which gave him the championship of China. He kept a beautiful length, seldom coming up to the net, but when he did it was with good judgment. It will be interesting to see how his smooth game will stand up against the forceful strokes of his Swiss rival.—Reuter.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA'S INDEPENDENCE

London, To-day.—The Foreign Secretary was asked at Commons question-time yesterday what was the Government's policy towards the maintenance of the independence of Czechoslovakia. Mr. Anthony Eden replied that the policy was that which resulted from loyal adherence to the Covenant of the League of Nations.—British Wireless Service.

The property of the Chin On Steamship Co., which included the well-known steamer Hydranges, Permanent Pier No. 6, Hong Kong, a steam launch and a buoy at Swatow, which was put up to auction yesterday at Messrs. Lamert Bros. saleroom, failed to obtain a bid and was withdrawn.

Some 360 boys, accompanied by 20 Fathers and teachers, left the Aberdeen Industrial School at 6 a.m. to-day for a one-day trip to Macau. The excursion was rendered possible by the munificence of Sir Robert Ho Tung, who wished to give the boys this holiday as a mark of appreciation of a good year's work.

CANTON-KOWLOON RAIL FARES

Strong Competition From Steamers

PROBABLE LOWERING OF RAIL CHARGES COMING

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, To-day. Because the travelling public consider that railway fares are somewhat high, the daily revenue of the Canton-Kowloon Railway is now yielding only a little over $4,000 a day as against normal receipts of $7,000 a day. Steamer fares are lower. Passengers in reduced circumstances do not mind taking a longer time over the journey between Canton and Hong Kong provided the fares are low. The new motor vessel Lee Hong is carrying a full load of passengers every trip, between this port and Hong Kong, as her fares are the lowest.

In view of the river competition, the Canton-Kowloon Railway is studying the situation with a view to reducing the fares for the three classes. The boom is over, now that the ancestral worship season has ended.

However, the railway looks forward to better business after October 10, the Double-Tenth celebrations, when this line will handle the passenger and freight traffic from the Canton-Hankow Railway. There is a possibility of the joining-up of the two lines as Hong Kong and Nanking are reported to be in favour of such a link.

"NOTHING IN IT" Interviewed this morning concerning the proposed cutting of fares by the river steamers and any subsequent action by the Railway Administration, Mr. R. D. Walker, Chief Manager of the Kowloon Canton Railway, stated, "There is nothing in it" and would add nothing further.

She was dressed over-all and before she left the Blue Peter was run up at her foremost masthead to join the double house flag of the Cunard White Star Company, flying at her aftermast.

Many busy hours preceded the liner's departure and every incident, from the muster of the entire crew of 1,100 and boat-drill, with the launching of all the 24 unsinkable motor-lifeboats, to the arrival of many distinguished passengers and their friends, was cheered by the quayside sightseers.

SKIPPER'S CERTAINTY In an interview the liner's Captain, Sir Edgar Britten, who received messages from well-wishers all over the world, said he was sure the Queen Mary would be a great success, and spoke of her as a link of good-will between the two great English-speaking peoples.

The Captain was not to be drawn on the question of record-breaking. He said the ship had a schedule, and he thought that if they kept to it they would not break the record. Great crowds gathered last evening at Cherbourg to welcome the Queen Mary on her first call.—British Wireless Service.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

REFORM PROPOSALS CONSIDERED

ARCHBISHOP'S OPINION

London, To-day.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, presiding at the opening of the Convocation of Canterbury yesterday, referred to the international situation and the proposals for the reform of the League of Nations. He said that if the League was to fulfil its high purpose they could not acquiesce in its being reduced to a position of a mere council of conciliation. The spirit of aggressive nationalism was too strong, and the fear and suspicion it aroused too rife.

"We cannot abandon or whittle down what the League stands for," declared the Primate. "The actual circumstances of the time seem to have discredited it, but the ideal remains and will remain for the Christian world. The ultimate basis of justice and peace will be the moral and spiritual one of a reconstructed League of Nations."—British Wireless Service.

SMUGGLING IN N. CHINA

MORE QUESTIONS IN COMMONS

London, To-day.

Mr. Anthony Eden answered a number of questions in the House of Commons yesterday on the smuggling in Northern China. The Foreign Secretary, referring to various suggestions for improving the position put forward in the questions, said that he thought the best means of checking smuggling would be the restoration to the Chinese preventive agencies of the normal means of exercising their authority. So far as he was aware no other Government, apart from the Chinese, British and United States Governments, had made representations on this subject at Tokyo, but the British Ambassador had kept in close touch with the representatives of the other interested Powers.

Mr. Eden added that the attention of the Japanese Government had been called to the detriment caused to legitimate Japanese interests in general by the incidence of wholesale smuggling in North China.—British Wireless Service.
